NAZIS GAIN IN CHANNEL DRIVE; FRENCH ADVANCE NEAR CAMBRAI

Flanders Fields Again Scene of Fierce Fighting

Allies Claim 20-Mile Drive In Last 24 Hours on German Bulge; Say Great Battle Only Started; Titanic Struggle Rages.

BULLETIN

PARIS—(AP)—The French armies, effecting what foreign military experts called a "miracle of reorganization" fought today with new fury to reunite their northern and central armies and chop off the long, sharp spearhead which the Germans have driven through northern France to the sea.

By KENNETH DOWNS
(INS Staff Correspondent)

PARIS—Allied forces smashed forward to the outskirts of Cambrai today as the "Battle of Flanders" raged in full sway.

The advance to Cambrai's outskirts, about 200 miles southeast of recaptured Arras, was announced by the French high command as the Allies launched fierce counter-attacks against the northern German flank in France.

The new Allied smash appeared to indicate a 20-mile gain in the space of 24 hours.

German plane losses since May 10 in the terrific battle were estimated officially at 1,000.

Millions of men and thousands of planes as well as every other implement of modern war are being employed on a scale never before known in the titantic struggle.

Heart of the battle lies in the region stretching from Cambrai to Valenciennes.

A spokesman for the French high command said:

"The battle has only started. But it is a great battle—a truly great battle."

The spokesman disclosed the battle started yesterday when the Germans launched their anticipated huge offensive.

The fighting raged far into the night and was resumed with increasing violence this morning. The high command spokesman added:

"The Germans launched their drive in the region between Valenciennes and Cambrai. Throughout the day and night there were fluxes and refluxes. There were advances at some points and retreats at others.

"It was a grand melee."

According to the spokesman, however, the battle progressed under conditions "satisfactory to the Allies."

In the Cambrai region the French abandoned ground in the morning but regained this territory by a smashing counter-attack in the afternoon, advancing into the outskirts of the city.

Cambrai is the city where I slept four nights last week. It is now in ruins.

While the battle of Flanders raged, German artillery opened violent and incessant barrages from Longuyon to north of the Nied river (24 words censored here.)

Attigny, where the artillery activity also occurred, is situated on a curve of the Aisne river. It was believed the Germans may contemplate an attempt to force a crossing there.

"We can't predict the evolution of the battle," said the French military spokesman. "This depends largely on the actions of the enemy and the moves of our high

Belgian Refugees Flee From Path of Nazi Blitzkrieg

Germans Again Take Abbeville, Near Boulogne

Churchill Reports Heavy Fighting In Channel Area Only 30 Miles From English Coast; Danger Grows Of British Invasion.

(By Associated Press)

The fall of Abbeville, 12 miles from the English channel, to German shock troops blasting their way through to the coast, was announced today by Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

"This country is in fearful danger," declared Alfred Duff Cooper, British minister of information.

Heavy fighting is raging around Boulogne, France, on the channel, Churchill said. (Boulogne is only 30 miles from England.)

It is too early yet to say what the result of this coastal fighting may be, but it evidently carries with it implications of a "serious character," he declared.

French reports yesterday said the Germans had been "chased out" of Abbeville, but once again the Nazi onslaught has broken through to the sea.

Paris, however, gave a more hopeful picture of the conflict. There it was reported that the French armies, swiftly reorganized, were fighting with new fury to reunite their northern and central armies and chop off the long, sharp spearhead which the Germans have driven through northern France to the sea.

Simultaneously Clement R. Attlee, deputy leader in the house of commons, disclosed that the governments of both Britain and Ireland were apprehensively "alive to the possibilities" of an invasion through Ireland.

As emphasized by Churchill, the threat of a Nazi invasion was apparently becoming hourly more grave.

Possibly as a preparation for this heralded next blow in Hitler's "total war" scheme, power-diving Stuka bombers and wasp-like German speedboats smashed at channel communications.

Meanwhile, Premier Mussolini summoned the Italian supreme defense council into session, perhaps auguring the long-awaited Italian decision to enter the war.

Count Galeazzo Ciano, Il Duce's No. 1 man and foreign minister, who has been inspecting Italian-held Albania, left for the Yugoslav border—focal tension point where Yugoslav troops have long been massed to meet any Italian invasion.

A German break-through in the fierce fighting for control of English channel ports imperilled communications between 550,000 Allied troops "pocketed" in northern France and 1,000,000 French soldiers to the south.

"There is a gap between the two armies," a British spokesman admitted. "The Allied situation on the western front is extremely grave."

Besides the vital line of communications being endangered by the new Nazi onslaught, a British expeditionary force communique acknowledged that the Germans had reached "the neighborhood of the coast" on the English channel.

The German high command reported the harbor facilities at Dover, England, and Dunkerque, France, had been "effectually bombed." The British denied such attacks at Dover.

Apparently the Germans were trying to prevent either the flight of the so-called "trapped" British troops from Dunkerque or the cross-channel transportation reinforcements from Dover.

Emphasizing the gravity of the Allied position in

ARREST: Member of British Commons Jailed In Round-Up

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The arrest of Capt. Archibald H. M. Ramsay, Conservative member of parliament, by direction of the home secretary was announced today by the speaker of the house of commons.

Ramsay, a veteran of the World war, was detained in Brixton prison as the government carried out a round-up of persons suspected as "fifth columnists."

At the same time a police guard was clamped on headquarters of the British Union, the British Fascist organization headed by Sir Oswald Mosley.

When a member of the house asked whether the home secretary would give the reason for Ramsay's arrest the speaker replied, "Not at this stage."

Ramsay, of a well known military family, long had been regarded as a Fascist, particularly on the score of anti-Semitism.

HAVOC: Did Nazi Planes Kill 300 or 50,000 In Rotterdam?

By JACK FLEISCHER
(UP Staff Correspondent)

ROTTERDAM, The Netherlands—In its blitzkrieg bombardment the German air force destroyed about one square mile of Rotterdam, Holland's second city, and killed somewhere between 300 persons, the German official estimate, and 50,000 the highest Dutch estimate.

One German air force captain told me that there were probably "several thousand corpses" as a result of the bombardment; neutral sources and a Dutch priest who had investigated among surgeons and hospitals put the figure at from 1,000 to 20,000.

I saw the havoc wrought by the German bombers during a three-day tour of Holland arranged by the German high command.

When first I saw the ruins Monday they were smouldering still, six days after the blitzkrieg had overwhelmed this city of 600,000 stolid people who for generations had zealously preserved their insulation from Europe's wars.

The completeness of the destruction, centered in the business and old residential section, was appalling. Brick and stone buildings of from two to 10 stories had been blasted into piles of debris. Here and there a blackened wall, a few iron girders, still stood starkly amid the ruins.

What the material loss was, anyone may guess. Most of Rotterdam's most important business buildings and banks were destroy-

Senate Rushes Action On Navy Defense Plans

Late War Flashes

LONDON — (AP) — Declaring that "opinion in the United States is rising," Alfred Duff Cooper, minister of information, said today that the events of "these last few weeks had done more for the cause of the Allies in the United States than eight months of propaganda could have done."

LONDON —(AP)— Prime Minister Churchill repeated today Neville Chamberlain's pledge that Britain would never make a separate peace with Germany. In a written reply to a question whether he renewed the pledge to conclude no peace except in agreement with France, Churchill answered one word: "Yes."

LONDON— (INS) —There is no truth in statements that General Maurice Gamelin, former commander - in - chief of the Allied armies, has committed suicide, it was announced authoritatively in London today. Gamelin was replaced over the week - end as commander - in-chief by General Maxime Weygand.

BUDAPEST —(INS)— Half a million remobilized Rumanian troops are being rushed to the Soviet border, it was reported in Budapest today. Troops newly recalled to the Rumanian army were estimated at 500,000, bringing the total standing army to 1,500,000.

LONDON—(INS)—Destruction of at least 48 German planes by a single Royal Air Force fighter group which simultaneously lost only six craft, was announced today in an air ministry communique. Eighteen other Nazi planes of various types were damaged or riddled by bullets.

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—German warplanes swarmed over the Norwegian Arctic sector of Narvik again today, seeking both Allied troops and shipping in the continued struggle in the far north.

Speedy Decision Predicted by Leaders On $3,297,011,352 Program; Boost Plane and Pilot Strength.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The senate approved the $1,473,756,728 navy appropriations bill today, hastening the administration's extraordinary national defense program far toward final congressional action.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(U P)—President Roosevelt will outline his national defense policies in all phases in a "fireside" chat on the radio Sunday night at 9:30 p. m. (EST). White House Secretary Stephen T. Early said the talk would be in a "nature of a report to the American people."

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The senate, out to duplicate its double-quick action on army funds, rushed approval today for the navy's share of the record-making $3,297,011,352 peacetime defense program.

The $1,473,756,728 navy bill was called up for debate, and leaders predicted a speedy decision, perhaps rivaling the five-hour drive which swept the $1,823,254,624 army measure through yesterday by a 74-to-0 vote.

The tenor of senate feeling was indicated by Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the foreign relations committee after the army bill was passed.

"That's notice to the world," he said, "that we will be able to finish anything they start."

Analysis of the $3,297,011,352 defense legislation showed that about one-fourth of the money would go to start the army and navy toward the 50,000-plane goal envisioned by President Roosevelt.

The army bill as approved by the senate carried $454,000,000 for aviation purposes. In the navy bill, $326,000,000 in cash and contract authority has been earmarked for air defense.

There was likelihood of even greater aviation spending by the

NAZI HANDBILLS

FBI Probes Complaints Of Chicago Posters.

CHICAGO — (AP) — The federal bureau of investigation disclosed today that complaints had been received that "Heil Hitler" Swastika handbills had been found in Chicago mail boxes and plastered on automobiles throughout the city.

The handbills addressed to "German-Americans" said:

"Hitler will not forget you. Don't fear Roosevelt. Don't fight for British money. Remember 1917. Heil Hitler."

Alleged Nazi Agents Driven Out of Texas Town by Crowd

(By United Press)

DEL RIO, Tex. — The uprising of 400 people here to drive three professed Nazi agent from town was followed by reports from Austin today that Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel had ordered an immediate investigation of reported state-wide subversive activities.

Two of those expelled were women.

The governor was given a complete report of the demonstration here.

The crowd had threatened to stone male members of the party unless he saluted the American flag and publicly burned the circulars which he and his two female companions had been distributing about town for three days.

The governor said at Austin he had sent Director Homer Garrison of the state police and Col. Gaston Howard, assistant adjutant general of the Texas National Guard, to confer with officials of the federal bureau of investigation in Washington.

The man threatened with a stoning identified himself as Louis Beehler, of Scotland, S. D. At the edge of town he turned toward the crowd and warned:

"If we go, there will be hundreds to take our place. They will flow from all corners. They are in every county in Texas, every state in the union and every country in the world."

4 IN FIELD FOR COUNCIL SEAT

Democratic Councilmen to Decide on Successor to Smith Before June 15.

Democratic members of city council are expected to caucus within the next week to decide on a successor to the late Philip Smith, councilman-at-large, who was accidentally killed May 15 while working in a downtown office building.

Faced with a June 15 deadline for making its choice, council is expected to fill the vacancy at its regular meeting June 4. Unless decided upon within 30 days, a successor will be appointed by Mayor William J. Locke.

With Democrats holding a 5 to 3 majority there it appears certain that a Democrat will be chosen.

While Democratic members remain silent on the selection of a new member, speculation is running rife in party circles as to who will be named.

Mentioned for the post have been three former councilmen and a former Lucas official. Two are known to be seeking the office.

With the Democrats keeping an eye on the First Ward which they lost four years ago to a Republican, Russell D. Porch, speculation has it that Smith's successor will

At noon today the temperature was 53 degrees as compared with 82 yesterday.

There was a heavy but brief shower early last evening, and it started to rain shortly before noon today in a rather determined manner. Continued cool and cloudy weather is predicted for tonight and Friday.

Mussolini Calls Italian Defense Council, Report

(By Associated Press)

ROME—Premier Mussolini has summoned the supreme defense council for a meeting today, a usually reliable Italian source asserted.

At the same time Italians accused French authorities in Morocco of "renewing hateful persecutions against Italians living in the protectorate."

The official news agency, Stefani, reported from Rabat, French Morocco, that "without justified reasons or explanation Italians of all social classes have been arrested, imprisoned or expelled from the territory within a few hours, with disastrous consequences for their property and interests gained by decades of sacrifices and honest work."

Premier Mussolini, continuing Italy's war preparations on the eve of the 25th anniversary of her entry into the World war, today ordered the general board of war manufacturers made into a cabinet division.

The new division will be headed by an undersecretary of state directly responsible to Il Duce.

Rome university students in a resolution today told Mussolini they would consider it "an honor and cause of pride to fight for the liberty and independence of the Italian empire" and protested against "threats of injuries by nations aiming to suffocate the young strength of Fascist Italy."

SERVICE LEAGUE REPORT SHOWS AN ACTIVE YEAR

Small-Scale Charity Program Enlarges as Activities Increase in City.

Organized less than two years ago with a handful of members, the Mansfield Service League today published a report that would be impressive for a larger organization.

The league was organized for the purpose of doing "little things" for individuals, but their small-scale charity was done in a manner that soon attracted attention and in little over a year, the league's services were being asked for by all sections of the city.

The league met Tuesday at the home of Mrs Robert R Black, 182 West Second street, for an annual meeting and to elect officers. Mrs. Black was retained as president.

Serving with her will be Mrs. F. D. Boals, vice president; Mrs. M. M. Feaman, secretary; and Mrs. B. H. Spear, treasurer. Members of the executive board are the officers and Mrs. J. H. Jones, Mrs. C. H. Moran, Mrs. S. H. Glessner, Mrs. L. D. Wright, Mrs. W. W. McFadden, Mrs. V. E. Vining and Mrs. B. H. Esgar.

Although the league has only 35 members it shared the responsibility of providing Christmas baskets last year with the Salvation Army and together they gave out 228 baskets. The league distributed 300 toys

The league gave aid to 332 families from May 1939 to May 1940, exclusive of the Christmas baskets, and through these families cared for 918 children.

Distributes 2,795 Articles.

During the past year the league has collected and given out 2,795 articles to needy persons, including clothing and household furnishings. In practically all cases the clothing is fitted to the individual and in many cases made over entirely.

Besides these collected articles the league made 214 new garments, most of them for school children

The league's charities range from bedside luxuries and necessities for ailing persons to formal party dresses for high school girls who cannot afford them for class affairs

CLOSE-VOTE

SALISBURY, Md. —(UP)— Perseverance conquers, John E. Morris believes Morris wound up in a 606-606 tie for the Democratic nomination for city council at the primaries. "Well," he commented as officials planned a recount and possibly a special run-off election, "last year I lost by a single vote."

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—Co-eds at the University of California solved with almost child-like simplicity the "honor" problem of violating the curfew ruling which requires them on their nights out to be in bed by 1 o'clock, and then winking at the violation. Joyce Hurls Braves Into Share of Fourth In League Race

Holds Pandas Scoreless for Seven Innings

Mansfield Hands Lima 7 to 3 Setback at Fairground; Invades Fostoria Tonight.

THERE'S one thing Manager Dewey Stover is sure of today—that he has two dependable moundsmen.

That was proven at the Fairground before some 400 spectators last night when Lloyd "Deacon" Joyce hurled the Braves to a 7 to 3 triumph over the front-running Lima Pandas in an Ohio State league tussle.

Lima pounded Joyce frequently, but when the Pandas had men on the paths he was invincible after the second inning. The victory lifted Mansfield into a tie for fourth place and enabled Findlay to tie Lima for the leadership in the tight title chase.

The other tosser Stover has been able to send to the hill without worrying how soon he would be pounded from the mound is Bob Arnold. It was Joyce's second win in a row.

The Braves play at Fostoria today and return to the Fairground Friday to meet Fostoria under the floodlights at 8:15 p. m. Friday will be "Ladies'" night.

Mansfield spotted Lima to a 2-0 lead in the first half of the opening inning and then came back to tally three in the first to grab the advantage. Lima managed to knot the score at 3-all in the second, but the Braves added a run to take a lead that was never relinquished.

The Braves added a run in the fourth and two in the sixth to ice the affray. Howard Beals was the batting star for the Braves, collecting a triple and two singles. Stover, Dick Morse and Bill Padar collected two hits apiece.

TOLEDO — Byron Nelson stuffed Ohio's top golf prize in his bag today and started preparations for defense of his National Open title in Cleveland next month.

The new Toledo Inverness pro beat par by four strokes and his nearest opponent by two in posting 284 for the 72-hole Ohio Open tournament at Sylvania Country club.

Tony Penna, Dayton veteran, finished second with 143—71-72—286. Defending Champion Billy Burke of Cleveland was two strokes farther back, where he was tied with Phil Perkins of Cleveland, former British amateur titleholder.

Nelson shot even par for the 36 final holes with 144, his 140 from Tuesday allowing him to clip regulation figures for the four rounds.

The national champion earned $250 and a trophy.

Paul is Redleg Puzzle

Derringer Is Unable to Get Going; Blows Three-Run Lead.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The Cincinnati Reds, who have been doing pretty well for a club that was supposed to play dead after the 1939 world series, nevertheless have a serious problem on their hands.

It's Paul Derringer, the big Kentuckian who won 25 games last year but can't seem to get going this year. Only yesterday he blew a three-run lead and the New York Giants took the game, 6 to 4.

This gave him a record of four defeats against three victories and marked the first time in ages that he's been under the .500 level.

Paul has pitched one bang-up game this year, the opener against the Chicago Cubs. Since then he has been good and bad.

Last year he walked just 36 men in 38 games. This year he's given 21 bases on balls already. Paul also has allowed 63 hits, 23 more than anybody else. Bucky Walters, who has won six and lost none, has the next highest total of 40.

Yesterday's game, which cost the Reds their undisputed title to first place, blew up in the last three innings. For five innings Paul held the Giants to three hits while Johnny Rizzo pounded out a double and homer to help the Reds to three runs.

Appleseed Finally Tops Simpson

Additional Sports On Page 18

HOLDS 5-STROKE LEAD IN WOMAN'S TOURNEY

CANTON —(AP)— Miss Dorothy Gardner of Steubenville held a five-stroke gross lead today as the Ohio women's medal golf tournament went into the final 18 holes.

Miss Gardner, one of the state's leading women golfers for many years, fired a three-over par 78 in the first round yesterday. Her 78-6-72 also took the low net lead.

CAPTURING eight firsts out of 13 events, the Johnny Appleseed track team upset John Simpson, 63½ to 45½, to cop the city junior high school track crown yesterday at Stadium field. It was the first athletic triumph for Appleseed over Simpson.

Appleseed's victory over Simpson, in view of the records of the two teams this season, came as a surprise. In triangular meets this year, in which both Appleseed and Simpson competed, the Simpson crew came out on the long end consistently.

Appleseed showed most of its strength yesterday in the field events, taking the shot put, discus, high jump, and pole vault. The only field event the boys from Cline avenue lost was the broad jump, which was won by Palmer of Simpson.

Outstanding point getter of the meet was Kinkel of Appleseed, who battled his way into the "first" column three times. Kinkel won the 100 and 50 yard dashes and the shot put.

Other topnotchers for Appleseed were Herrick, in the 440 yard run; Carpenter in the discus; Lameroux in the high jump; and Meister in the pole vault. Appleseed's 440 yard relay team—composed of Herrick, Seymour, Elbert, and Kinkel—also found the top position.

* * *

Appleseed also scored seven second places and three thirds to Simpson's four seconds and nine thirds

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY M'LEMORE
(UP Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—The golden laurel to Lou Gehrig. That is my platform at the moment and it will continue to be until voting is complete and the World's fair announces the winner of its award for the outstanding contribution to sports in 1939.

* * *

Right now, Gehrig isn't among the leaders. Latest returns from the land of the trylon and perisphere show that four Joes—Louis, DiMaggio, Burk and McCarthy—are in front.

Fine sportsmen as they are, I can't help but feel that the golden laurel would rest more lightly, more becomingly, on the brow of the one-time "Iron Horse" than on any of the Joes, even though they represent our greatest fighter, our greatest baseball player, our greatest oarsman, and our most successful manager.

True, Gehrig didn't perform through the entire 1939 season. He played in only eight games but now the Mayo Clinic has told us what he was going through at the time, those eight appearances take on a stature more impressive than all of the 2,155 successive ones he had played in before.

If a show of courage is a contribution to sports then those eight games Lou played must be remembered forever. Sick almost unto death, he refused to give in. Now that we know the torture those eight games cost him, who would be the first to deny him the wreath of laurel?

If Gehrig earned the golden laurel by the way he fought to stay in the game, he earned it doubly by the manner in which he bowed out.

No athlete ever walked into the setting sun with more grace and less histrionics than did Gehrig.

When fate said the time had come for a pinch-hitter to bat for him he accepted it as quietly and lightly as if he had known it all the time.

Admitting his love for baseball and what it had done for him, he said he would never do a thing to cheapen its name or lessen the respect of those who looked upon him as a symbol of it. He never has.

Not wealthy, he refused offers of quick riches. Not once, but a dozen times he turned down offers for the use of his name as a drawing card for restaurants, bars, night clubs and the like. He spurned endorsements of a hundred kinds on the grounds that they were not in keeping with the sport.

The Mansfield Wreckers softball team spoiled their four-game winning streak yesterday by dropping their first game of the season to the Wemco club at Armory field by an 18 to 5 score.

Smashing over three runs in the first inning, the Wemcos had the best of it throughout the game. They scored an additional four runs in the second frame, five in the third five in the sixth, and one in the seventh.

H. Ross, Bosco, and Beal poled out homers for the Wemcos, while Goler homered for the Wreckers. Shaffer was on the mound for the Wreckers and Beal toed the rubber for the Wemcos.

Then the Giants tied it in the sixth on two singles and Harry Danning's homer. Bill Werber hit a four-bagger for the Reds in the eighth, but the Giants took it back with three more runs on four singles in their half.

Bucky Walters is out for his seventh victory today, with Prince Hal Schumacher getting the call from the Giants.

Knocked out of the box five times this year, Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, Chicago Cubs' hurler, visits a bone specialist in Baltimore and is shown with a sports writer, left, explaining that physicians held hope his hurling arm would respond to treatment.

Indians Win Where It Does Most Good

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Bob Feller and Jack Wilson, two of the fastest pitchers in the American league, drew mound nominations today as the Indians sought to make it two straight over the leading Red Sox and slash their game and a half margin.

* * *

Three Cleviand pitchers gave up 16 hits yesterday but the Redskins collected three home runs, three doubles and nine singles to outblast Boston, 9 to 6.

Mel Harder, making his first start of the season, received credit for the victory although he was rapped for 12 hits in four and two-thirds innings. The Sox started to hit Harry Eisenstat, his successor but were unable to touch the offerings of Joe Dobson in the last two innings.

Oddly the Red Sox predicted after the game that Harder would have a good season. Manager Joe Cronin forecasting 15 triumphs for the dean of the Cleveland staff.

"We hit him hard, but he looked great," Cronin said. "I'll be surprised if he doesn't at least equal his record of last season." (Harder won 15 and lost 9 last year.)

Fritz Ostermueller failed to last an inning for Boston. Jim Bagby and Herb Hash following him to the mound. Bagby was charged with the defeat.

Hal Trosky hit his ninth home run of the season. Roy Weatherly his second and Ken Keltner his fifth. Lou Boudreau, Rollie Hemsley and Keltner doubled.

Johnny Allen declared that he was ready to pitch again after straining his arm. He probably will start one of the games in the series at St. Louis opening tomorrow night.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK—(AP)—The educated Prof. Moe Berg of the Red Sox follows the international situation closely. So when the Sox had an off day in Detroit, he hopped over to Canada to give conditions a quick once over . . . Ken Overlin has bet $400 of his own dough against $1,000 he beats Ceferino Garcia in the Garden tonight.

* * *

Since Henry Armstrong has been coaching Overlin, Garcia has asked the boxing commission to warn Ken against thumbing and butting . . . When the Cubs tried to get Eddie Miller, the Bees told 'em the price was $100,000 smackers and they could take it or leave it . . .

GRAND SLAM

In the year just completed, East Denver high school teams were champs in football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, golf and swimming . . . P. S.—They finished second in wrestling.

CHEER UP

We should worry and we should fret. Those Yankees will get going yet.

* * *

Add a leg injury to Bill Dickey's long list of woes . . . as the Yanks were riding from Cleveland to Detroit Tuesday night, some lug hurled a rock through the train window, spraying Babe Dahlgren with splinters.

* * *

John Debinger, jr., Penn's ace miler is on the sidelines with a bad throat and is out for the balance of the season . . . Wolves, rare animals in Comiskey park, are howling at the White Sox.

TODAY'S LAUGH

The Wrestling Equity association announces it has called strikes against and will picket clubs operated by Jack Pfeffer and Rudy Dusek, because they have refused to co-operate in "cleaning up the game."

Baseball, Weather Uncertain As Pennant Races Tighten

(By Associated Press)

THERE was a time that the National league pennant chase looked like a runaway. First the Brooklyn Dodgers won nine in a row and looked hotter than a four-alarm fire. Then the Cincinnati Reds gave the appearance of gunning for a ten-game lead by July 4.

* * *

The result was inevitable, of course. The senior circuit is having its customary brawl for the lead and today the Dodgers and Reds are tied with 18 games won and eight lost.

* * *

The American league is having nearly as desperate a dispute for first place between the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians.

The baseball situation, in short, still is as uncertain as the weather.

Cincinnati's chances depend considerably on big Paul Derringer, who suddenly has changed from an exclamation point to a question mark. The only reason he lasted the route yesterday, as the New York Giants beat Cincinnati 6-4, was the great faith, hope and charity of Manager Bill McKechnie.

Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons led the Dodgers to a 3-1 decision over the pitiful Pittsburgh Pirates, giving only six hits and pitching shut-out ball after the first.

These were the only games the weather allowed in the National league. A scheduled night game between the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia was reset for tonight.

Cleveland took first blood in its series with the Red Sox, winning 9-6 on home runs by Hal Trosky, Roy Weatherly and Ken Keltner.

The Yankees continued their assault on all kinds of pitching (except good) with a 16-hit bombardment that wrecked the Detroit Tigers 8-2. Babe Dahlgren had a home run and four singles. Rookie Marvin Breuer held the Tigers to six hits. This was the fifth victory in the last seven games for the world champions.

The Chicago White Sox, who hadn't won a game in their own park until Monday, now have won three straight including a 10-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics yesterday. Chicago piled up 18 hits while Lefty Ed Smith held his ex-mates to seven.

* * *

Another seven hit pitching performance, this one by Southpaw Ken Chase, brought the Washington Senators a 9-2 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

TIRED, NERVOUS PEOPLE MAY HAVE SIMPLE ANEMIA
Simple Anemia (deficient quality of the blood) develops so gradually, in so many people, that their blood is scarcely impaired before they realize what is the matter.
Without enough hemoglobin to carry a plentiful supply of oxygen and other essential materials, your blood slowly starves your body into an anaemic state. The physical resistance of such a body is lowered, making it more susceptible to illnesses.
Fortunately, there is a simple way to fight simple Anemia — with Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They contain iron which the hemoglobin in your red blood cells must have to carry vital, life-giving oxygen and other essentials from your lungs to every part of your body.
If you look pale, always feel tired, are easily upset and seem generally run-down, try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Don't let simple Anemia get a stranglehold on you. Be sure you get the genuine Dr. Williams Pink Pills—60c at Muir's.

TRADERS BID UP LEADING STOCKS TODAY

Steel and Chrysler Prominent on Recovery; Commodities, Bonds Do Better.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Although the war news provided nothing especially to cheer about, stock market traders were sufficiently optimistic today to bid up leaders fractions to 3 points.

Prominent on the recovery were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Sperry, American Telephone, General Electric, Standard Oil of N. J, Pennsylvania, Anaconda and N. Y. Central.

Bonds and commodities did better. "The free" pound sterling slipped after initial firmness.

Aside from the foreign picture, shareholders noted the Dun & Bradstreet summary disclosing a jump in the nation's bank clearings for the week ended yesterday to the highest level in seven weeks.

Among the hopeful factors in the steel field was the estimate that ingot production in the latest four weeks had expanded from 61 per cent of capacity to around 75 or 76 per cent.

DANGER AGE

Survey Reveals Pedestrians Over 50 Hurt Oftenest.

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Most pedestrians killed in traffic accidents are 50 years old or more, says the safety department of the California State Automobile association. Commenting on facts developed in a nationwide survey by the American Automobile association, the department says:

"A person past 50 today was 21 or over in 1910, when the number of autos had begun to grow rapidly. A man whose pedestrian habits were solidly formed before the automobile became common-place was certain to face a serious handicap in an area of 30 million high-powered cars.

"Moreover, many persons past 50 have poorer sight and hearing. Elderly persons, on the average, are less agile and alert."

BOAT STOPS TROLLEY

PHILADELPHIA—(U.P.)—A local street car motorman blinked his eyes in astonishment and then hastily applied the brakes. On the tracks, which are just about three miles from either the Delaware or the Schuylkill river, was a motorboat. Traffic piled up, but within a short while the boat's owner returned and moved it into a showroom.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 PINTS A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Kidneys remove excess acids and poisonous waste from your blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SATURDAY'S TO BE THE DAY TO BUY YOUR POPPY

Boy Scouts and Junior Legion Auxiliary Members Plan to Sell 12,000 of Them.

Mayor W. J. Locke officially designated Saturday as Poppy Day by issuance of a proclamation today, in which he pointed out the fact that once each year Americans are asked to wear a red poppy in remembrance of the men and boys who gave their lives in the World war.

Boy Scouts and Junior members of the American Legion auxiliary will sell the poppies on the streets Saturday. The auxiliary hopes to sell 12,000 of them and to raise not less than $1,200 for work among disabled veterans.

Directing the Poppy Day sale this year is Mrs. Howard Newman. Her committee has arranged to serve dinner at the noon hour to the Scouts who will start work early on down town streets.

A number of the poppies have been distributed through the factories and the down town sales are largely for employed people and shoppers.

The poppies, made in the likeness of the wild poppies which grew over the fields of Belgium and France and which have come to be a symbol of the American boys who were killed "over there," were made by the crippled veterans at the Sandusky Soldiers and Sailors hospital. Each poppy brings its maker a penny, providing those without income with a means of making a little money.

Aids Vet's Children.

The money is spent on child welfare among veterans' children and in aid to veterans themselves. Much of the money is spent on clothing for children, rent and groceries, and a portion of it goes to take care of the personal needs of Mansfield veterans in the different veterans hospitals in the state.

In his proclamation, Mayor Locke said:

"I, W. J. Locke, mayor of the city of Mansfield, know as you and every other American knows, the cost in suffering and lives during and following the World war. Remembering this, and being surrounded by other nations experiencing another war, I deem it fitting that the citizens of our city should honor the boys who fought for what we call our own by wearing a Memorial Poppy on Saturday, May 25, that will be sold by the Boy Scouts and Junior Auxiliary members of the American Legion.

Therefore, I do hereby proclaim and declare Saturday, May 25, as Poppy Day. I kindly urge all citizens to observe this day. Let us do our part towards aiding the American Legion Auxiliary continue their good work during the coming year."

Two-Year-Old Sells Mayor First Poppy

It would take more sales resistance than Mayor W. J. Locke, possesses to refuse the poppy which is offered him by Marylu Dona Lister, youngest member of the American Legion Auxiliary. Marylu, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Lister, Ashland road, sold the mayor the first poppy of the 12,000 which will be sold on Mansfield streets Saturday. Mrs. Howard Newman, chairman of this year's Poppy Day, is shown at the left. R. B. Gardner, state commander of the American Legion, is holding Marylu while she decorates the mayor's lapel.

STATE BOASTS MODERN PRISON

South Carolina Penitentiary Has Fire-Proof Cells, Shower Baths.

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(U.P.)—South Carolina now has one of the nation's most up-to-the-minute state penitentiaries, even to shower baths and fire-proof cellblocks.

The 15-acre prison, which holds 1,000 inmates, has undergone fundamental and far-reaching changes in the past three and one-half years. Improvements still are being made under the state administration's long-range modernization program.

Five of the main prison buildings have been fire-proofed. Two others are in process of fire-proofing.

One of the biggest tasks was installation of water and sewer facilities in the main cell block because of the solid rock and stone construction of the structure.

The new hospital, capable of caring for 100 patients, is perhaps the most up-to-date unit of the penitentiary. It has every modern facility.

Although showers have not been installed yet in every cell block, a sufficient number of "community showers" have been placed to insure adequate bathing facilities.

Prison quarters formerly occupied by the state's women prisoners have been converted into modern quarters for old men and boys serving only short terms. The approximately 100 women inmates have been moved to a new women's prison eight miles outside the city.

All trees and shrubs planted this year, as well as last year, should have special attention in the way of cultivation, mulching and watering, to help them grow well.

PHOTOGRAPHIC EYE PRODUCES SHARP VISION

Wisconsin Man Reads Signs Where Others Faintly See Billboard.

ELKHORN, Wis.—(U.P.)—Harold Gruenwald, 39, really means it when he says "I could tell at a glance."

He is gifted with what can best be described as a "photographic eye."

His eyes take in as many as 20 to 25 letters at a glance and his mind retains the image so that he can quickly give the middle letter of each word or the total of letters in each word.

With amazing speed he can total the number of letters in a line of type after only a cursory glance, or enumerate the alternate letters and then go back and pick up those he missed.

His vision also is sharper than ordinary in that he can read the letters on a distant billboard when the billboard itself is just discernable to others.

Gruenwald says he first noticed his unusual ability when he was about 9 years old. He makes no attempt to explain it, but asserts:

"When I was a boy I was ill a year and read a lot. Numbers began associating themselves with words at that time. But it can't be just memory work, because I can give you the numbers of letters in a book of scientific words that are strange to me as easily as with more common words."

Gruenwald's 7-year-old daughter, Jane, shows signs of developing the same ability, he says.

So far, the man with the "camera eye" uses his gift only for amusement, but he hopes some day to find a practical purpose for his faculty.

JUMPS STATE LINE

DELMAR, Del.—(U.P.) This town of 2,000, which is bisected by the Delaware-Maryland state line, presented an unusual problem to the Census Bureau. Census-takers finally ignored the state line, and counted the population here with tabulators from the Maryland office, technically taking the town out of Delaware jurisdiction.

VINITA, Okla. — (U.P.) — The Grand River dam authority accepted an offer of $250 from A. F. McGehee for some wheat growing on land it had acquired.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1940.

A number of one-car families are suffering from a three-car demand.

Some of the younger folks are expressing amazement at how strongly Thomas A. Edison resembled Spencer Tracy.

Don't worry about not having "enough money"—you'd be surprised at how few people have what they regard as "enough."

Paving Awaits Council Action

ALREADY delayed for a month as a result of council's inaction, the West Fourth street re-paving job appears destined to drag along indefinitely unless councilmen get into agreement and appropriate $48,000 to meet the city's share of the cost.

The whole matter of type of surface, and general specifications was gone into months ago, when estimates of costs of various kinds of surfacing were submitted to council by the state highway department and the brick-concrete combination decided upon as being less expensive than use of all new brick and more desirable than salvaging from 20 to 30 per cent of the old brick, for use along the sides, with new brick in the middle of the street.

The city's share of the re-paving, under present plans, will approximate $48,000, with about $18,000 to be assessed against property owners on the street and $30,000 to come from the motor vehicle license fund of the city.

State highway department estimates of comparative costs were that all-brick paving would be approximately $16,000 more than the combination job.

While a number of council members now appear to favor an all-brick surface, the decision at the time this point was up for consideration was in favor of the less expensive brick-concrete combination.

The state highway department is now awaiting action by council before steps can be taken to advertise for bids or proceed with the work, which is to be let to a contractor who will be required to furnish equipment and supervision and to use WPA labor to the extent available.

With a long stretch of the street already torn up, traffic detoured, the public inconvenienced and merchants complaining of damage to stocks from dust blown in from the street, the idea of this condition continuing any longer than is absolutely necessary is far from pleasant.

It is up to members of city council to decide upon what they regard as the best way to proceed—and to PROCEED.

Brazil Welcoming Immigrants

BRAZIL has been taking the immigration lid off. Six years ago that government limited all immigration to 79,020 a year. The actual number of newcomers remained well below that figure. Then, a year or more ago, a great need developed for new labor supplies. The government has since taken the following steps:

1. It increased immigration without changing the quotas.
2. It removed all quota restrictions on Portuguese immigration.
3. It raised the quotas for the other American republics to 3,000 a year apiece. Formerly the highest number was 349 from Argentina.
4. It threw open the doors for settlers from Finland.
5. It granted haven to 3,000 German refugees.

These measures still leave the labor supply short. The state of Sao Paulo alone has told the federal government it could use 300,000 immigrants in agricultural and industrial work, on the coffee and cotton plantations and in the factories. There are 21 other Brazilian states with large labor needs.

All the Americas, said a biologist at the recent Scientific Congress, are experiencing more rapid population growth than any other part of the world. If, to the natural increase by births and prolongation of life, is added increase by new immigration, the disparity will become greater.

Fortunately we have lots of room still. Average population for the entire Western Hemisphere is 16.5 persons a square mile. That of the Eastern Hemisphere is 57.

Honored In Their Communities

TWO items in the neighborhood news of recent days had elements of similarity that may have impressed a number of readers.

One made reference to the death of Charles Dumbaugh, 70-year-old Mt. Gilead man, who befriended many young people in his town, sponsored parties for boys and girls, bought uniforms for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts who could not afford to purchase their own, and participated in all of the community's youth activities.

On the day of his funeral all business places, offices and schools in Mt. Gilead were closed during the hour of services, as a tribute to this man, who, without children of his own, had manifested sincere interest in the young people of his home city.

And in the neighboring village of Butler, death has taken George B. Keefer, at the age of 84. Here was another man who will be long remembered as the friend of every boy and girl who was graduated from the Butler high school during the forty-year period he served as school janitor.

Mr. Keefer developed unusual skill in making patch-work quilts and it became his hobby to present a hand-made quilt to each graduate at commencement time. He did this as an expression of friendship for the boys and girls during their school days and his interest in them continued as they grew into manhood and womanhood, with the result that he held a high place in the love and esteem of all the people among whom he lived.

Thinking of these two men, and of the place they made for themselves in their respective communities because of their service to others, the parable of the talents is recalled, as told in the 25th chapter of St. Matthew, especially as to the servant who received only two talents but who used these in gaining two other talents, and to whom it was said: "Well done, good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things . . . ". From which it appears not to be the number of talents, but the way in which they are used, that really counts.

After having been tried out as a "World of Tomorrow," the New York exposition resumes as "the biggest county fair," having apparently concluded that there are more folks than personages.

Four Kansas editors have been on the job fifty years or more—and, at times, it may seem even longer.

Just so you'll know about it—Venetian blinds are now being spoken of as "drapes of lath."

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—To hint at the collapse of a nation—even if that nation should be one whose acts you don't like—is 99 times out of 100 more wish than thinking.

Nations just don't go bust—poof, like that. Remember only a few short years ago, economists were writing about the sour predicament of Germany. Now she's waging a war, the cost of which would black out the most vivid imaginations.

This is all by way of cautious prelude, because Washington is hearing that Japan is in a bad way. I don't argue that it is not. I just mean that if you are a Japanese sympathizer, don't go committing hari-kari—or if you are anti-Nipponese, don't start holding any joyful wakes.

The facts are pretty simple. The three-year Chinese interlude has been costly. The cost of living has skyrocketed. Wages (except in the munitions industries, which are creating the most amazing class of nouveau-riche you ever heard of) haven't. The foreign trade business looks good in yen, but the country is painfully short on foreign exchange . . . and/or gold.

Jolted By Weather.

Last year, Japan had a drought. It knocked the very watts out of the vital Japanese hydroelectric power system. A coal shortage caused householders to turn their charcoal braziers into central heating plants.

Then came that same blitzzardly spring which swept America. Latest reports say it has put the blight of frost on Japan's important crops. Latest government information is that the Japanese silk crop may be affected as much as 80 per cent by the spring freezes.

This much of it is truth and I can give you the figures if you are mathematically minded. For example, the general retail price index is 58.1 per cent above the June, 1937, level. The wage index for March was only up 14.7 per cent in the last year. The munitions industry, which employs a comparatively small percentage of the population, accounted for a lot of that.

Spring estimates indicate subnormal crops of wheat, barley and rye. There's a general trend toward inflation: a significant decline in the absorption of national bonds; an increase of 50 per cent in the national debt; a much heavier tax burden; a mounting shortage in nearly all commodities; a decline in labor efficiency.

Prices Keep Climbing.

The inability of the government to control prices was admittedly a contributory cause of the fall of the Abe cabinet. Price control is one of the major aims of the present administration.

Your government has received confidential or official confirmation for all of these statements.

There are other straws in the wind. Washington hears that the morale of the Japanese at home is at its lowest. There have been grumblings no end over the fuel shortage; over the high prices and low wages; over the wage favoritism shown munition workers; over the thousands and thousands of "little white boxes" of ashes of war dead that keep coming from the war in China; over the endless chain of propaganda lies intended to bolster the spirits of the masses.

One government reporter, a little more lyrical than the rest, included the phrase that not only in the cities but in the sticks Japan wears the pitiful air of a nation swept by the plague.

I wouldn't know. Whatever the truth, Washington is finding time, between comments on the whirling dervish that's sweeping over Europe, to talk about the Orient.

Is the Female of the Species a Menace?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

ARE AMERICAN WOMEN Good Eggs individually—but hysterical, prejudiced, unfair and unreliable when working as a group?

Have women "a stranglehold on education" in this country—and should boys under 15 be taught by men, to save them from demoralizing feminine influence?

Should women who live on alimony, endowments or

Should women who live on alimony, endorsements or bequests from relatives, be rated as drones, and their judgment treated with corresponding contempt?

And if We Gals are sincere in our demand for equality, should we do away with alimony and breach of promise suits . . . demand equal punishment for women and men murderers . . . permit women to propose but man to refuse, without putting him in the Dog House . . . and, in general, play the game 50-50 without tears or tantrums?

"YES!", said Dr. John Erskine, famous writer and lecturer, addressing the highbrow and elite Friday Morning Club . . . and, evidently, not giving a darn what happened to his health.

Then, just in case he had not covered enough territory, Dr. Erskine blasted—

Our cock-eyed hats—

Our refusal to allow a greatly talented person to sing in the Daughters of the Revolution's hall—

Our tendency to regulate everyone else's morals except our own—

Our screwball attitude toward public affairs in general.

And whether you like it or not, sisters, I think he's right. Nor will we help our case by yelping otherwise.

Taking us by and large, we women have piled up a pretty silly record since we seized the reins of power. We have—and how!—wanted to "have our cake and eat it both." We have, as the reckless Mister Erskine points out, yelled for war one minute, and against it the next. We've condemned Man's inhumanity to Man, then beaten him at his own game. We've screamed for a 50-50 deal . . . then hollered when someone applied it to ourselves.

And yet—though I'm making no excuses—I think there's reason for it all . . . a reason that offsets even Dr. Erskine's blasts. We're human, we women. And, being human, we love power. Need power, to express our dynamic selves. But we've been denied power, save in very limited, domestic fields. And so WHEN WE GRAB THE GUNS, WE GO HOG-WILD!

We've managed our own domestic domain splendidly—more wisely and bravely, I honestly believe, than men would ever have managed such a walled "protectorate." But, now that we've crashed the gates into a larger world, we're a bit dizzy. A bit unbalanced. A bit groggy with our own power.

'N' we show it in our hats. And a lot of other things!

But havva heart, boys! Give us time! Look how YOU'VE gone ahead since you ate your buffalo meat raw. Maybe even we will do the same!

Tax on Education.

Every parent with a child over 18 in school, and, therefore, more of a "dependent" than ever, has wondered why the internal revenue laws don't permit the listing of that child as a dependent and consequently exempt for income tax purposes.

People in the internal revenue collector's office may explain they have wondered, too, and have favored a change in the law. But it has stood unchanged, and at a time when parents have been encouraged to keep their children in school as long as possible and thus keep them out of competition with older workers for jobs. Why should a parent be taxed for following such excellent advice?

A sympathetic view is taken by Representative Matthew J. Merritt of New York. He is the author of the latest bill in congress to remove the discriminatory provision from the internal revenue laws. Parents of college students over the land, many thousands of them, will be pulling for the success of the Merritt bill. – Kansas City Times.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Paying Through the Nose."

It is not necessarily paying high interest or on the instalment plan.

The connotation is being made to disgorge a fancy price, held to the strict and expensive letter or interpretation of a contract.

The original allusion in this phrase is uncertain.

The reference may be to the continental poll tax, which in Sweden used to be called nose tax.

A logical conclusion is that the words rooted in the ninth century, in connection with the overrunning of Ireland by the Danes.

The invaders levied upon the Irish a so-called "house" or occupancy tax—splitting the nose of whoever refused to pay.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Big, ugly "Red" Lewis, the Sauk Center, Minn., boy who wrote, "Arrowsmith," "Elmer Gantry" and any number of other controversial novels, must have chuckled softly into his beard when he heard William Saroyan had turned down the Pulitzer award of $1,000 for the "best play of 1939."

Saroyan's comedy, "The Time of Your Life," was nominated recently in the annual awards for literature, and the 32-year-old American-Armenian promptly declared he would have no part of it.

Back in 1926, Lewis was given the Pulitzer nod for his novel, "Arrowsmith." His action in declining it brought accusations against him that he was motivated by "self-exploitation."

But four years later, when he received the Nobel award for literature carrying a cash award in excess of $45,000, the lanky debunker accepted it with alacrity.

I INTEND to use the money to support a well known young American author and his family so as to enable him to continue writing," he said. The young author he referred to was Sinclair Lewis.

He explained then that there was a vast difference between the Nobel and the Pulitzer awards. "The Nobel is an international prize with no strings attached," he said. "It is given for excellence in literature. The Pulitzer prize is cramped by the provision in Mr. Pulitzer's will that the prize shall be given 'for the American novel published during the year which shall best present the wholesome atmosphere of American life, and the highest standard of American manners and manhood.' This suggests not actual literary merit, but an obedience to whatever code of good form may chance to be popular at the moment. As a result, the Pulitzer prize has been given to some extremely mediocre novels."

So, after a breach of 10 years, the members of the committee who make the awards in the name of Pulitzer again find themselves snubbed. William Saroyan, like Lewis, will have plenty of backing in this decision. Carl Van Doran thinks prizes are harmful. Saroyan thinks that to accept a cash prize for a play would be to compromise himself. "Besides," he said glibly, "I don't need the money. Had this happened seven years ago I might have accepted it as a loan. As a loan I doubt that it would have ruined me as a writer. As a gift it would have embarrassed me."

IT SHOULD be pointed out that the NY critics, in their annual selection of a "best" play, also named "The Time of Your Life." This, presumably, leaves us as about the only person in New York not in agreement with the award. We thought Saroyan's play amusing but unimportant. It did not make any money, though this of course has no bearing on its merits as a play. We thought whole sections of it were too reminiscent of W. C. Fields, his manner, his way of speaking and his material, to be too original. Since almost anything is possible in Pulitzer selections, we thought that at least two other plays, "The Man Who Came to Dinner" and "There Shall Be No Night," were more deserving. However, the Pulitzer committee neglected to ask our opinion, and we decided against offering it unsolicited.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—L. W. (Chip) Robert, secretary of the Democratic national committee, has a plan for refunding war debts, also for selling more supplies to the Allies and at the same time ensuring Western Hemisphere defense.

Briefly put, it is to take a mortgage on the British fleet in lieu of war debts.

In other words, the British would make a small token payment, then promise to turn their fleet over to the United States on the war debt in case of default. In return, the Johnson Act would become inoperative, and the United States would extend immediate war credits.

Behind this, of course, is not so much the matter of war debts, but the very real fear that the United States may lose its greatest bulwark of protection—the British fleet.

How important the British fleet is to American defense is only just percolating to the general public. Real fact, however, is that the United States is not now prepared to defend both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, and will not be prepared for four more years. It would take at least that long to build a second fleet.

The keystone of American defense has been:

1. A big navy in the Pacific.
2. Friendship with Great Britain, which rules the waves of the Atlantic.

According to the Chip Robert plan, Great Britain would enter into a contract with us to deliver the remains of her fleet in case of defeat. Legally, this might give the British an excuse for not signing away their ships to Hitler.

Actually, a good part of the fleet—at least in North Atlantic waters—would be out of commission before the British surrendered. However, some British vessels still remain in South American waters, at Singapore and in the Mediterranean.

Note—Another plan receiving informal consideration by some of the insiders is to repeal the Johnson Act and give immediate credits to the Allies, in return for a mortgage on the French and British possessions in the Western Hemisphere.

Greenland Air Base.

YOU can write it down as certain that should Hitler send an air expedition to Greenland or occupy it otherwise, Roosevelt would oppose that occupation, if necessary with the armed forces of the United States.

Reason, of course, is that Greenland is such an important air stepping-stone across the Atlantic. From a base in Greenland, an enemy would be within easy bombing range of the United States.

However, when this question came up for discussion recently, it was admitted that should Hitler get to Greenland first, the United States had no adequate airplane force or naval strength in the Atlantic to dislodge him.

If Hitler took Greenland or Iceland, the United States would have about as hard a time getting him out as the Allies had in rooting the Nazis out of Norway.

Military axiom (emphasized by this war) is: Once the enemy gets control of a seaport or an air base, it is going to be twice as hard, almost impossible to get him out. So you may see something done by the United States about Greenland in the not too distant future.

Stock Market Crisis.

IT'S a closely guarded official secret, but the catastrophic Black Friday on the stock exchange last week came within a hair's breadth of shutting down the exchanges of the entire country.

This was under discussion at a night conference of White House and SEC officials, who weighed the grave decision for several hours.

Two factors tended to favor the closing of the markets. One was the flood of selling orders that descended on brokers after the New York Stock Exchange closed Friday afternoon. The two bad days earlier in the week had not unduly worried the administration. But then after the market had shot up on Thursday, the break on Friday caused real anxiety.

What particularly worried the SEC experts was that there was little foreign selling, and that the great bulk of unloading was domestic. Furthermore, it was from people who hold their stocks outright, rather than on borrowed capital.

According to the private records of the SEC, there are only 200,000 margin accounts now—in contrast to the days of the Coolidge bull market when almost everybody was buying on margin. So the tremendous blocks of stocks dumped last week were not weakened margin accounts, but stocks owned outright.

Business Better.

SIMULTANEOUSLY, the New York Times business index went up, and economic conditions inside the United States looked better. Therefor, only possible reason for the dumping was fear—fear of an Allied defeat—fear of what might happen to the economic structure of the world in case it was overrun by Hitler.

All these things were taken into consideration by the SEC-White House conferees. But they could not decide whether to close the market. Finally, they put the decision up to Roosevelt. He had called the meeting, but had not participated, being occupied with a flood of war reports.

When the conferees came to him, he suggested that they postpone any action, and see what happened next day. It was Saturday, a half-holiday, he said, and might not be so disastrous.

This proved to be correct. The market stiffened, and while prices sold off again, the drop was not so serious and there was some buying. Under those circumstances it was decided to await further developments.

Note — One reason Roosevelt gave for his decision not to close the markets was the problem of re-opening them. He was afraid that once the step was taken, it might be difficult to recall for a long time. Meanwhile the country's financial system would be seriously dislocated.

Little Rabbits

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE RABBITS are making new trails or cleaning out the old ones they made last year. The paths of the groundhogs are wider and trampled with greater weight. I noticed where one very efficient rabbit had bit in two twigs one fourth inch in diameter and cast the severed parts aside, out of the runway. Where a branch had fallen across the run bunny had burrowed beneath it.

Here, in the new soft clay, I clearly saw fresh tracks and knew the direction of the traveler. I followed up the slope through a green briar patch until my coat and overalls were torn in places. Some leaves bunched up beside an old elm log attracted my attention. Rabbit tracks still showed upon a stretch of sand. I eyed the peculiar batch of leaves but the briars were sharp and matted. I got down and crawled along the damp grass with threatening canes above me, pulling myself along much like a measuring worm. I was close to the earth—last year's withered grass and decaying particles of wood and tender shoots of new white roots combined the odors of growth and disintegration. It was not unpleasant.

A continuous path led into the light shell of leaves from the far side. I dragged myself along until I saw an opening, but it seemed too small for any mature animal to enter. I had to burst the overhanging doorway to put in my hand, but I finally did so. My fingers touched a soft little bed of fur. I went in farther, gropingly, and touched the smooth fur coat of something alive. I felt a cold moist nose and then the head and ears of a rabbit. She had backed up as far as possible, to give my aggressive hand more room. I knew I was fearsome and unwelcome. I felt a quick frightened heart beat. I placed my fingers about the ears and tightened my grip slightly.

The rabbit screamed—that single voice of terror which is kept for awful emergency, and sounds so piteous that I feared I had injured her and let go. Hardly had I pulled my hand away when like a flash she followed. I saw the white blot of fur move zigzag across the uneven sod.

I reached in again. Four baby rabbits were there, soft, cuddly, sleepy little things snuggled together in the furry bed. I feared my intrusion might have done them harm, but next day I saw the mother leave the place again, and knew that all was well.

LAW REQUIRES TALL CITIZENS

Japanese to Rate Girls For Marriage According to Their Heighth.

TOKYO—(INS)—Japanese men and women, long recognized as rather diminutive in stature, are going to be bigger and better, by law if necessary.

In accordance with the law concerning physical development of the nation, passed at the recent session of the Diet, and which will go into effect July 1, the Japan Federation of Women's Associations is planning to impose physical tests on 2,000,000 unmarried girls ranging in age from 13 to 25 years. Preliminary tests will be held this fall.

These preliminary test will be held in representative comunities throughout the country and the results obtained will form the basis for more extensive tests to be held later.

The law, as passed by the Diet, first envisaged a program dealing only with boys from 9 to 17 years of age. This was due in hopes of keeping the cost of the program at a minimum. However, the women argue that sound and healthy womanhood is the first requisite of a strong, healthy and heavier populace and have started their own physical development move.

The tested girls will be classified according to examinations, into three groups or grades and their records will be examined by expert for devising new measures for the physical improvement of the Nipponese race.

SENIOR PLAY

ASHLAND—The senior class of Ashland high school will present "June Mad," as the annual play, at activities to be held at McDowell auditorium Friday evening.

COPY ENGLISH CHURCH PLANS

California to Build Replica of Picturesque Edifice in Sussex, England.

LONDON—(INS)—A replica of the picturesque parish church of St. Margaret, Rottingdean, Sussex, Eng., is to be built on the coast of California, according to information received here today by the Rev. W. O. White, Vicar of Rottingdean.

The site of the proposed church is on Mount Forest Lawn, overlooking San Fernando Valley and the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

St. Margaret's Rottingdean, is where Earl and Countess Baldwin were married, and the church has associations with many other English celebrities.

The desire is to copy St. Margaret's church, as being "representative of the charm and spirit of southern England."

Examples of the works of the late Sir Edward Burne-Jones, the well-known English artist who lived in the parish for many years, are contained in the church.

Anson Boyd, chief architect of the Forest Lawn Memorial Park Association, Glendale, California, in a letter to the vicar of Rottingdean, stated that he intended to start building the replical church this year.

SENATE SPEEDS TOWARD ACTION ON NAVY PLANS

Speedy Decision Predicted For Approval of Huge Defense Program.

navy. The senate naval committee opened hearings today on a proposal to boost the fleet's "paper" air strength to an immediate level of 10,000 planes and to provide 16,000 pilots to fly them. Authorization would be included for a start of work on 20 naval air bases, to cost $124,132,000. Similar legislation got house committee approval yesterday.

The senate-approved army bill contained not only the regular war department requests, but also the special appropriations asked by President Roosevelt in his defense message a week ago. The senate also added some money over and above these emergency recommendations. This bill now goes back to the house for concurrence.

Coalition Plans Reported Definite.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt has definitely decided to shake up his cabinet and bring Republicans in to meet the war emergency, International News Service learned today.

The president already has tendered Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York the secretaryship of war, and has sounded out Col. Frank Knox, 1936 GOP vice presidential nominee, on his willingness to accept the navy portfolio.

LaGuardia is expected to accept in the near future but Knox may decline because of his party's opposition to a coalition cabinet unless the president declares himself out as a third term candidate.

Meanwhile a high Republican source stated both Knox and former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, 1936 GOP presidential nominee, would accept posts in the national defense set-up if Mr. Roosevelt eliminates himself finally and effectively as a 1940 candidate.

Such a move by the president was seen as highly unlikely in view of the quick White House response to such a suggestion from Landon after he lunched with Mr. Roosevelt yesterday.

"The president regrets he has no time, just now, to give to the preparation of political statements," said the White House rejoinder. "He is too busily engaged with problems of far greater national importance."

It was considered impossible in New Deal circles that Landon would be asked to take any post.

The navy post will become vacant in the next few days when Secretary Charles Edison resigns to press his campaign for governor of New Jersey.

Placement of LaGuardia in the cabinet as secretary of war would involve resignation of Harry Woodring, who now holds that position. It was reported that Woodring has been, or would be offered the post of minister to Canada, just vacated by James H. R. Cromwell, but that he was not disposed to accept it. On leaving the cabinet, it was said, Woodring would return to private business in Kansas where he was a former Democratic governor.

Senator Answers Lindbergh Attack.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Sen. James F. Byrnes, (D.-S. C.) answered Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's attack on the administration's foreign policy last night with a charge that the famous flier was unqualified to speak on the subject.

He denounced those who "consciously or unconsciously" retard President Roosevelt's projected national defense program as the "fifth column's most effective fellow travellers."

He said that Lindbergh's speech had been announced as "a discussion of our air defense" but that the famous flier had "engaged in a discourse on American foreign policy about which he was no more qualified to speak than 'Wrong Way' Corrigan or any other aviator who may fly the Atlantic."

Bricker Warns Against War Alarm.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio bankers stood warned today by the state's chief executive against undue alarm over the European war.

Many people fear "democratic representation" is doomed, Gov. John W. Bricker told the golden jubilee convention of the Ohio Bankers association.

"I'm not that pessimistic," he said.

The governor predicted that Ohio business conditions would improve during the coming year assisted by "safe, sound, economical administration" of state government.

He reiterated his opposition to a coalition national cabinet, declaring that a two-party system was needed now as never before.

CLUB PLANS MEET

SHELBY — Plans to meet next Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Earl Barkdull were made when the Luncheon club members met this week for a meeting at the "The Cottage" at Ashland.

Landon In Capital for Talk With President

In Washington for a White House conference with President Roosevelt, Alfred M. Landon, former governor of Kansas and 1936 Republican presidential nominee, is shown center, with reporters at left and Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas at right. After the conference, Landon called on President Roosevelt to make clear his stand on a third term. The president replied that he was too busy with more important affairs to prepare a political statement.

At the same time he reported an increase in the total Knox county population from 29,338 to 30,932.

ENTICING are the offerings flagging your eye from behind the plate glass along Automobile Row—how in the world can a poor mortal pick the best of the bunch?

You can't try them all, it's plain. But there's one thing you can do that makes a lot of sense.

Just give yourself a yardstick to start with.

Take the car that all the talk's about. Give yourself something to go on by trying a Buick first.

Of course, it may be tough on the next fellow once you've sampled Buick's swift and thrifty Dynaflash straight-eight — no other engine made is balanced after assembly to slick-as-watchworks smoothness.

And stout, soft coil springs all around, especially when combined with ride-steadying torque-tube drive, may spoil you entirely for any other kind of ride.

Again, there are things like recoil-mounted Knee-Action, pressure-sealed cooling systems, Two-Way Direction Signals with automatic cut-off and so on that you simply can't find elsewhere.

But it isn't only Buick's six-dozen new features that make this the car you can't pass by—it's also the price.

That puts a really great car within your reach. It buys not only a lot of exclusives and extras, but gives you more of the basic things, such as power and size and deep-rooted sturdiness — a longer car and the sturdiest frame at the money.

Current prices† start at $895 ★ for the business coupe, delivered at Flint, Mich.—transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), and optional equipment and accessories extra.

That adds up to delivered prices that will open your eyes wide—so why not ask your Buick dealer for the whole story and a free demonstration?

Scientists Dig up Bones of Mastodon In Indian Legend

TUSCON, Ariz. —(U.P.)— Scientists of the University of Arizona are uncovering bones of a giant mastodon discovered by the Papago Indians in southern Arizona.

Dr. Emil S. Haury, head of the anthropological department of the university, said the exact site of the discovery was being kept secret until the skeleton could be removed.

The bones were partly exposed by erosion. The Indians believe that long ago the mastodon threatened to eat alive the entire tribe of Papagos but was killed by a tribal god, Etoi.

According to the Indians, Etoi allowed himself to be swallowed by the monster and then cut its heart out.

LONDON AMUSED AT PROPAGANDA

American Belief in Printed Word Shown in Food Gift to English Lord.

LONDON—(INS)—The subtlety of foreign propaganda in America was strikingly and amusingly revealed when Lord Josiah Stamp, eminent British economist, recently received a gift of a parcel of food from a friend in Philadelphia.

The gift was sent to Lord Stamp in all goodwill to enable him to have a little luxury in these days of rationing in Britain.

Contained in the parcel were:

Three tins of Portugese sardines,
A small box of Gruyere cheese,
A slab of chocolate,
A tin of honey, and
A little pot of peanut butter.

Lord Stamp was deeply touched by his friend's kindness, but has since enlightened him as to the true facts that Britain has ample supplies of food and that no one goes short.

His lordship had a photograph taken showing the shops of London packed with this class of goods and has sent it to his friend in Philadelphia, so that he may prove to Americans that Britain is not in the parlous state as foreign propaganda would have them believe.

Sculptured Styles for Heads

By MME. QUI VIVE

In hairdressing lore the word sculptured has been pretty overworked. But there's no other way of expressing what's going on now in the way of topknot arrangements. Those upswept side rolls are sleek and shining. One sees single tresses done in shadow waves, laid across the back of the head, and the lines are so perfect you'd think a woman had been born with them like that.

Hairdressing has become an art. The stylists are fairly bubbling with ideas and new enthusiasms. If you're thinking of getting a new hairdo for that perfectly heavenly hat you just brought home, go out stalking one. What will be offered at the beautytorium will surprise and amaze you.

With these elegant arrangements, the hair must have fastidious care. It must glisten like the raven's wing. It must not be harsh-looking. The girls are getting scalp treatments as they have never had them before, twice a week sometimes. They are seeking out expert hair trimmers because each individual roll must be cut to order. It's a complicated business, but it's fun. And when you trot home with a hirsute triumph atop your dome you're sure to make a sensation in the family circle.

Severe designs best become the woman of finely chiseled features. Little cuties with the upturned nose had better stick to her soft effects, locks free and fleeting at the back, perhaps a soft bang over the forehead, ringlets tucked away behind her ears. And that reminds us of something we have wanted to say for a long time. Use a double mirror and see how your hair looks just back of your ears. That's the least attractive portion of a woman's head. It is one reason why the high hairdress lost out! It reveals it cruelly.

If you're wearing a hat that requires no more floor space than a postage stamp, you might try out the crest style, which is a roll extending from the forehead back over the crown and then fuzzed out to look feathery. Yes, my child, it is a bother to keep in form, but this feathery edge rests against your little peanut hat, which hangs over one eye or the other.

There are no standardized styles and that is something to holler about. You roll your rolls according to your own notions. You are given the privilege of creating a pattern that is all yours and nobody else's.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Harry and Dicky had their tongues hanging out," Lillian murmured, "and a bit of unexpected leisure because your father is taking a nap. So I parked them in the room above this, where that old grating still is in place, so they virtually have box seats."

"So has Noel," I murmured back in the same fashion, and told her what I had done with Mary's young husband.

"Good girl!" she whispered, and then Philip Veritzen's commanding voice sounded over the chatter.

"The players who are on the stage when the curtain rises will please take the places allotted them," he said. "The others will please go to their various points of entrance. Mrs. Graham, will you attend to this, please."

"Immediately," I answered in what I flattered myself was as crisp a voice as his, and in a few seconds I had showed each man and woman where was his or her place in the scheme of things.

Mary, whose entrance came last, I sent out into the hall—for her entrance came from that door—with instructions to leave the door ajar. Philip Veritzen looked at the open door, and then back to me.

"Do you think that is wise?" he asked, and though there was apparent deference in his voice, I felt the flick of the lash. "Anyone might be coming through the hall."

I bit back the crass query. "And suppose anyone did, then what?" and supbstituted a docile, "You know best, of course," and signaled Mary to come into the room, close the door after her, and stand against it. He nodded as if satisfied, and then, turning to the assembled players, spoke to the group in a confidential manner which was intended to put them at their ease.

"Almost all of you have worked with me before," he said, "and those who haven't have, in all probability, heard of my little peculiarities. But I will explain once more that when you are engaged in producing a play of mine, nothing but death is permitted to interfere with the action. You may swoon with illness—although I advise you not to—but someone will throw water in your face, prop you up, and cue you for your next lines.

"Or you may break an arm," he added, "but you will find it in splints before you really know what has happened to you, and you will go on. And this same principle holds in everything."

"And now that I have pressed that point home," he said, "we will begin our rehearsal."

He stopped and struck his hands together in a gesture too theatrical even for him.

"I had forgotten," he said. "Where is Noel? I want him here."

"The Authority on Authorities"

WATCH FOR THE COUNT

HOLDING the top card in the dummy's long suit, your desire is to play it at just the right time, not too soon and not too late, especially if the dummy is void of other entries. If you come in too soon with the big card, the declarer will be able to get over there again and run the rest of the suit. If you wait too long, you let him pick up an extra trick which you could prevent. At a time like this, watch your partner's cards carefully. If he gives you his count, you know how many the declarer has.

	♠ K 10 7 5 4 ♥ 9 5 2 ♦ 7 6 ♣ A 4 2
♠ A 9 6 ♥ J 8 4 ♦ 10 3 ♣ K Q 9 5 3		♠ 8 3 2 ♥ K 10 7 6 ♦ Q J 8 4 2 ♣ 7
	♠ Q J ♥ A Q 3 ♦ A K 9 5 ♣ J 10 8 6

(Dealer: East. East-West vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT

West led the club K, followed with the Q, and knocked the dummy's A out with the third round. The declarer at once tried the heart finesse, which worked, then led the spade J. West ducked this, and also let the Q win. With four tricks in, South collected his heart A, diamond A and K and two good clubs, making his contract.

The culprit was West. When the first spade was led, he should have watched his partner's card carefully. In such a spot, the partner of the man who probably holds the top card should signal the exact size of his holding. It has become convention with veteran campaigners that if he has exactly three, he plays his lowest first, then his next higher one. With any other number, such as two or four, he gives a high-low.

In this particular situation, West could have seen only one of his partner's cards before he had to make his decision, but that card was the deuce. Since that was bound to be East's lowest, West should have counted him for exactly three, therefore the declarer for only two. In consequence he should have taken the second spade trick. So doing, he would have held the declarer to eight tricks and defeated the contract.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ A Q J 7 ♥ 10 8 5 4 ♦ Q 2 ♣ Q 8 4
♠ 9 ♥ A J 6 ♦ K J 10 8 7 4 ♣ K 10 5		♠ 8 6 4 ♥ K Q 9 7 3 ♦ A 9 6 5 ♣ J
	♠ K 10 5 3 2 ♥ 2 ♦ 3 ♣ A 9 7 6 3 2

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

After ruffing the second heart, how should South play for 4-Spades on this deal?

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, May 24.

Steady progress may be looked for in this day, judging by the lunar aspects, which favor the stability of the fortunes and the happy culminations of social, domestic or romantic hopes and desires. While there may be much stirring in the personal affiliations, with a caste of the perplexing, intriguing and perhaps mysterious, yet the solid status of affairs are to be enhanced by industry, diligence, sound judgment and perhaps rewards of labor and fidelity in responsible trusts.

Those whose birthday it is may look with high hopes and confidence for a year in which solid and enduring rewards for labor, steadfastness and loyalty may be visible.

A child born on this day may be endowed with all the solid qualities for success and satisfaction enhanced and enriched by a gracious gift for social, domestic and emotional balance and happiness.

"I Enjoy More Relief Than In Years and Thank Vendol"

Lexington Resident Was Bothered Daily with Gas in Stomach, "Heartburn", Acid Risings, Pains, and Cramps, Due to Constipation. Says Nothing Ever Helped Like Vendol.

MRS. MINNIE WONDLE

"For the past few years I have been in rather poor health and have taken various medicines, but received little relief, so when Vendol was so highly praised by everyone, I began taking it, and now I enjoy more relief than I had known in years," said Mrs. Minnie Wondle, well known resident of Lexington, Ohio, near Mansfield.

"I really believe my troubles came from constipation, which brought on other outward symptoms. No matter how carefully I selected my food, it disagreed with me, causing sour stomach, gas, "heartburn", acid risings in my throat, and shortness of breath. I frequently felt bilious, my tongue was coated, and there was a bad taste in my mouth most all the time.

"It was really surprising, the promptness with which Vendol acted upon my bowels and relieved the constipation. It just seemed to clean me out thoroughly, although the action was pleasant, and now I am entirely relieved of the gassy, sour condition in my stomach.

"My tongue has lost that white coating and I get up every morning feeling rested and refreshed, from a good night's rest. This is something I had not enjoyed for a long time.

"You can put me down as a strong friend to Vendol, and I have already advised a number of people to try it."

If Vendol helped this person living right near here, it will do the same for you, so why not begin taking this double-acting compound made from Senna, Dandelion, Queen's Root, May Apple, Anis Seed, and 7 other roots and herbs combined with valuable alkalines. Come to Central Drug Store, corner Main and Fourth streets, learn how Vendol will help you also. All drug stores sell Vendol.

WHITE-COLLAR TOMATO PLANTS

White-collar workers are not thought of as being particularly strong on the physical side, no matter what their mental capacities may be. On the other hand white-collar tomato plants can be the strong men of the vegetable garden. White-collar tomato plants require a second transplanting before being placed in their permanent bed in the garden but the results will justify this extra trouble.

On this second transplanting tomato plants become "white-collar" by being placed in plant bands, prepared paper pots, or even ordinary paper drinking cups. These paper containers prove to be effective protectors against cutworms. They also have the added advantage of making it possible to set the plants into their permanent bed without again disturbing the roots.

As shown in the accompanying drawing, before setting out the plants in paper pots or cups in the vegetable garden, cut off the bottom of the container. This done, plant and paper collar can all be placed in the ground. The paper collars around the plants should set at least one inch above the ground, since cutworms usually do their damage just at the surface of the soil or not more than an inch underground.

She explained she was subject to rheumatism and had found that as soon as pain came on, all she had to do was to put a bee on her shoulder and let it sting her, to relieve the pain instantly.

Sherwood Orders Girls' School Head to Make Changes

WELFARE HEAD GIVES THREAT OF DISMISSAL

Superintendent's Daughter Is Ousted From Delaware Institution.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — State Welfare Director Charles L Sherwood said today that Mrs Rose Beatty, superintendent of the State Girls' Industrial school, must make administrative changes at the institution or she will be dismissed.

Sherwood did not indicate what changes would be required at the school, located near Delaware He suggested he had not decided finally the exact changes he might suggest.

He disclosed he had ordered Mrs. Beatty to remove her daughter, Mrs. Jean Beatty Watkins, from the institution. This order has been complied with, Sherwood said.

It was understood that Mrs Watkins has moved to Columbus

According to Sherwood, Mrs. Watkins, although not on the payroll, had undertaken to give orders to employes and inmates. He added that a male employe at the institution had resigned before he could be removed. The employe's identity was not disclosed

Two investigators recently completed an investigation at the school after rumors of immoral conditions prevailing at the institution. Herbert R Mooney, assistant state welfare director, has said the report of the investigation was made up mostly of affidavits submitted by former employes and inmates

Mrs. Beatty has indicated she would resist efforts to remove her from the superintendency. If an ouster attempt is made, the customary procedure would be to suspend her and then to file removal charges within 30 days. She could then appeal for a hearing before the state civil service commission.

Sherwood said he did not know what action Mrs. Beatty might take upon expiration next month of the suspension period of Mrs Elizabeth Fowler, a matron who contributed many of the reports about alleged irregularities at the school.

"She can either remove her or reinstate her. It's entirely up to her," Sherwood said

FREIGHT WRECK

Two Members of Nickel Plate Train Crew Injured.

FINDLAY—(INS)—Two members of a Nickel Plate railroad crew were in a hospital today recovering from bruises and cuts received when the freight train they were operating crashed into the rear end of a standing freight

Those injured were William Howarth, 56-year-old engineer of Bellevue, and Elijah Crockett, 58, the fireman, of Clyde. They were taken to Bluffton hospital.

The accident occurred near the intersection of the railroad and the Dixie highway west of Findlay. Four cars, including the locomotive, were derailed. The engine, however, remained upright

Charles Shumanof, conductor of the standing freight, said he tried frantically to flag the approaching train. Howarth and Crockett jumped just before the crash.

Impressive services will mark confirmation ceremonies tonight at St Peter's Catholic church in which 375 confirmands will be confirmed by the Most Reverend Karl J Alter, bishop of the Toledo diocese

It will be the first confirmation class at St. Peter's in three years, according to Msgr R C Goebel and will bring a number of visiting priests to Mansfield to take part in the services.

The services will be simple, but impressive, starting at 7:30 p. m. with the procession outside the church. In the procession will be the 375 confirmands and their individual sponsors.

Behind them will come the altar boys and 25 priests who will precede Bishop Alter. As this group enters the church, the bishop will be formally received by Msgr. Goebel in a liturgical ceremony. The procession will end at the altar

The bishop will bless the congregation and then will instruct the members of the class and confirm them in the Catholic faith

The services will conclude with the solemn benediction of the Sacred Sacrement by the bishop and the procession will move out of the church singing the confirmation hymn "Holy God"

After that there will be an informal gathering of visiting priests at the rectory.

Swedish Steamer With Nazi Crew Sunk by British

STOCKHOLM — (INS) — The Swedish steamer Balticia, in command of a German prize crew, was sunk today by British naval action off Stavanger Norway.

At the time of the German invasion of Norway, the 2,000-ton Swedish steamer was anchored at Stavanger loaded with wood plup destined for England. The Germans ordered the Balticia to proceed to a German harbor but the Swedish crew refused, whereupon the Nazis put a prize crew aboard to force the ship to go to the Reich.

When the Germans forced the Swedes to take their ship to sea, however, British naval craft intercepted her and sent her to the bottom.

The Swedish crew, rescued, reported that many foreign crews, forced to sail under Nazi prize crews had met the same fate off the Norwegian coast.

$1,500 More Added to $60,815 Reported at Conclusion of Drive May 6.

More than $1,500 has been added to the Community Fund since the end of the drive on May 6, making a total of $4,940 exceeding the original budget set up for the campaign.

Records today showed $62,340 subscribed by Mansfielders to support the nine welfare agencies. The goal set a minimum of $57,000. When the campaign closed on May 6, $60 815 was reported pledged

The money in excess of the budget will be allocated to the agencies on a pro rata basis of their original allotment. This will be done at a meeting of the executive committee on June 10, final meeting of the year.

The books close for the year—and for the drive—on June 10. Sidney L Palmer, executive secretary, said today that funds are still being turned in and that several majors are still on a clean-up job of the cards that were not solicited during the week of the campaign.

Annual meeting of the Community Fund has been set for June 12 by Carl H Henkel, president. It will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday in the Larwell room of the library

The meeting is for all "stockholders" in the Community Fund —every person who contributed to it this year The "stockholders" elect the trustees and the trustees elect the officers and members of the executive board

Abbeville Retaken by Nazis, British Admit

Churchill Reports Battle at Boulogne Only 30 Miles From English Coast; English Invasion Fear Grows.

the 14-day-old war in the west, Berlin sources asserted that British troops falling back toward the channel were "embarking at several French coastal points."

England-bound transports, it was said, were bombed by German planes.

The German high command declared Hitler's mechanized troops were "slowly winning" in terrific fighting in Flanders, along the Scheldt river line.

An Allied attempt to blast through Nazi defense lines with tanks near Cambrai, 65 miles from the channel, was repulsed, the high command said.

The new gap in the Allied lines was described as lying between Arras and Bapaume, 12 miles south.

The French government announced it was staying in Paris, countering widespread reports that the menace of a Nazi sweep into the French capital had resulted in a decision to remove to southern France, as it did in the World war.

The Allies, having drawn one main line of defense to guard Paris, strove to establish a unified barrier of steel between the channel ports and the main force of Adolf Hitler's mechanized war machine that would jam the German pincers aimed at crushing resistance in Belgium and northwestern France.

While informed German sources said the Nazi advance continued on all fronts, with steady widening of the wedge being driven toward the coast town of Boulogne, the French apparently were seeking to make contact with Allied troops moving southward out of advance positions in Belgium.

Louis P. Lochner, chief of the Associated Press Berlin bureau now with the German armies on the western front, reported reaching the channel (apparently somewhere on the Belgian coast). He said crews of Nazi U-boats and speedboats were eager for the fight and the Nazi infantry impatiently was awaiting the signal from Chancellor Hitler to send them off on the long-threatened invasion of Britain.

Hitler appeared today to be following to the letter his own 20th century version of the age-old military tactics of "divide and destroy" in blazing a pathway across northern France for an attempted knock-out blow against Great Britain.

Here is the task the fuehrer has cut out for himself, as outlined by his field officers:

Demolish Allied naval and air ground organization, then their airplanes, warships and transports, and finally—the supreme bid for a decisive blow with his gray-green land forces.

The Allies announced officially yesterday the recapture of Arras and Abbeville, 12 miles from the channel, the western-most point reached by the Germans. There were rumors in Paris—not immediately confirmed—that Amiens, southwest of Arras, and Sedan, center of the hotly-contested Meuse battle area, had been retaken.

Announcing that a new 200-mile Allied line along the Somme and Aisne rivers had halted the Germans, a French war ministry spokesman said:

"Our troops are holding the Germans at all points. . . . Even the rumors are better today."

On the east, the Germans still threatened Paris from Laon and Rethel, 70 and 100 miles from the French capital, in the direction of Soissons.

The British press joined unanimously in applauding the government's swift enactment of a law conscripting labor and property in a move which made Prime Minister Winston Churchill virtual dictator.

The Allies, trying desperately to overcome German air superiority, disclosed they were ferrying American-made bombers across the Atlantic by air from Canadian ports. Their air mission in the United States stressed the necessity of quick deliveries of planes bought in this country.

The United States government decided last night to send the liner President Roosevelt to Ireland to bring home Americans.

The American embassy in London said some 700 of about 3,000 Americans in the British Isles would be ready to leave as soon as a ship was available.

Britain, in the first of its new emergency measures, placed all its arms factories on a seven-day week.

Italy's war preparations, on the eve of the 25th anniversary of her entry into the World war, were stepped up as Premier Mussolini converted the general board of war manufacturers into a cabinet division headed by an undersecretary of state directly responsible to him.

Rumania shipped almost 300,000 reservists to her frontiers in the greatest military concentration in the country's history.

The scope of the battle on the western front was reflected in Switzerland, where observers reported both French and Germans had withdrawn divisions previously stationed along the Swiss frontier and poured them into the conflict.

War Relief Fund Pledges Reach Total of $1,131

The Red Cross war relief fund in Mansfield and Richland county jumped to $1,131 today, with $681 on the books at chapter headquarters in Mansfield, and $450 subscribed at Shelby.

The drive for $6,000 in the city and county is scheduled to end Saturday night, but General Chairman O. D. Meese said that it might possibly take an extra day or two to finish the campaign

The drive is a part of a national movement to raise a $10,000,000 chest for war relief to be administered by the American Red Cross in the war desolated countries of Europe.

Contributions should be made either to workers in the drive who are canvassing business concerns or directly to Red Cross headquarters at 204 Bowers building.

command (three words censored here) . . ."

"The French line," he added, "is roughly along the Somme river, over which all bridges have been destroyed."

The spokesman explained the rapidity of the German movements on the grounds that they are raiding unfortified towns and added: "They have mobile columns. So have we. Thus there is great movement in the unfortified positions."

The officer said the Allied forces in Belgium and in the region of France north of the "thin" German line total approximately 1,000,000 men.

Aerial activity, he said, "fills the skies." Germany's plane losses total "at least 1,000 since May 10," he claimed.

The next two or three days may prove decisive, the spokesman said.

The Germans are hurling their main masses of infantry into the fray, it was said, renewing the offensive without resting.

This indicates, French quarters believe, that Hitler is throwing his army into battle in reckless abandon in an effort to achieve a quick victory at any price. If the present effort fails, it was pointed out, the Nazi military machine will be in a "dangerously spent condition."

Recapture of Arras by the French was announced yesterday, indicating the Allied push against the German "bulge" has progressed some 20 miles in the last 24 hours.

Simultaneously the French admiralty issued this communique:

"In operations in the North sea, among the Dutch islands and off the coast of Flanders we lost the submarine Doris, the destroyer Adroit and the supply ship Niger. Crews of the latter two ships were saved.

"All other ships engaged, frequently attacked by planes, many of which have been shot down, continue to participate in the operations."

ed. Here and there, among the ruins, was a building that had escaped; some, particularly on the fringes, had suffered only broken windows and comparatively small structural damage.

The general picture, however, was one of utter ruin.

The official German account of the bombardment was that it took place after the Netherlands commander here permitted a three-hour German ultimatum to expire.

A German air force captain said that German planes had been instructed (in advance) to bomb the district as soon as the three hours had passed, unless it had capitulated. He said that it was possible to countermand the bombardment order and prevent the majority of planes from taking to the air, but that part of the air force had gone into action before it could be halted.

Another First Ward resident whose name had been mentioned is that of former Mayor Hunter, who dropped the election last year to Mayor Locke.

Said to be already considering the candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the Third Ward next year is Floyd Hunt, former mayor of Lucas, who is after the office to give him a boost in his anticipated campaign against George Kyle, Republican councilman next year. Hunt now lives at 227 Rowland avenue.

Lester Hunter, former Fourth Ward legislator's name has also been heard in the successor talk. Hunter lost the Democratic nomination to Councilman Jacob Kutchall, in the primary last year.

Davey Calls "Brotherly Love" Session of Democrats

REPUBLICANS PICK SCHORR AS CHAIRMAN

Burton Registers Protest But Agrees on Harmony Plan For Party Success.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Ohio's Democratic nominees for state office, all mutually concerned with ways and means of whipping the Republican foe in November, get together tonight to "promote brotherly love."

Former Gov. Martin L. Davey, the party's nominee for a third term, called the informal meeting but he refused to disclose publicly where it would be held. Informed sources, however, indicated it would take place in a Columbus hotel.

Party harmony has been a negative quantity among Ohio Democrats since the 1938 primary in which Davey was defeated for re-nomination by National Committeeman Charles Sawyer.

Davey said he thought tonight's session "to promote brotherly love" would be a good idea.

Republicans, meanwhile, settled upon Ed D. Schorr to direct the coming campaign. Schorr was elected unanimously to a sixth term as chairman of the party's state central and executive committees.

Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, Republican U. S. Senatorial candidate, called the committee's attention to the "widespread disapproval of the action of the state chairman during the recent primary campaign" but urged the group to organize for the "party's progress" instead of "personal considerations."

Burton was nominated despite Schorr's personal opposition.

The committee decided to wait until after the national conventions to decide whether to recommend that the legislature separate the state and national ballots in November.

Postponement of both national conventions was suggested by former Gov. James M. Cox in an editorial in his Dayton Daily News.

Cox, Democratic presidential nominee in 1920, declared that the Republican party at its June 24 meeting "may face conditions so unpredictable that writing a platform for the November electorate would be absurd."

Woodland School Tops Attendance Figures In April

Attendance in Mansfield schools in April averaged 94 per cent with the Woodland school topping the list with a 96.2 per cent attendance, principals' reports to Supt. W. L. Miller showed today.

The reports listed 2,828 pupils who were neither absent nor tardy during the month. The Brinkerhoff, Bushnell, Prospect, West Fifth, and Woodland schools had no truancy cases. The John Simpson junior high school, however, had 20 cases, nearly half of the city's total of 46.

There were 881 cases of tardiness, including 337 at Senior high school and 141 at John Simpson junior high school.

Schools ranking high in attendance, in addition to the Woodland school, were Bushnell and Newman with 95.8 per cent each, and Hedges with 95.6 per cent. Average enrollment in all the schools for the month was 6,222.

It didn't work. They finally got in by smashing a window but something frightened them and they fled—empty handed.

State to Build 2 New Roads In Dam Area

Up and Down THE STREET

Two police officers who assumed the roles of firemen at 2 a. m. today when they found a parked automobile on fire on North Diamond street had to call the fire department when the contents of their small hand extinguisher gave out. Lieut. C. J. Kalstein and Patrolman E. D. Mitchell discovered the car, one being delivered to a dealer in Washington, D. C., on fire while cruising in the vicinity. Emptying the contents of the extinguisher they had to call company 1 to put out the blaze which damaged the rear seat of the car.

When the state set up a system to encourage people to ask for their sales tax stamps after paying for them, it not only brought several millions in additional funds to the state but has provided a means for many charities to finance their work. Members of Rotary club save their tax stamps for their crippled children's work, and last week when William C. Mead "cashed in" on the club's collection he had stamps with a face value of $3,502.64, and their redemption value to the Society for Crippled Children was $105.08 in cash. This will be used to aid the children. All of the stamps have to be sorted out and classified before they can be turned in. Mead said there were 73,000 one-cent stamps in the lot.

Richland county employes are going to hold their annual picnic indoors this year so they won't have to worry about rain and ants. A committee is at work on plans for the dinner party which will be held the evening of June 6 at the Schwarz tavern on Lexington avenue. Besides eliminating the possibility of a postponement because of rain, backers of the "indoor picnic" idea said it will take the burden off the shoulders of a few workers who will have a chance to enjoy the festivities along with the others. Last year's picnic drew 112 employes and their families and this one is expected to be equally as popular.

Both good and bad luck was experienced yesterday afternoon by Mayor W. J. Locke and C. M. Crafton, service safety director, who took advantage of the warm day to do some fishing at the Charles Mill dam at Mifflin. In attempting to land a big carp he hooked, the mayor fell into the water. He didn't give up but stood in the water nearly to his knees and kicked the fish to the bank, where Crafton caught it. A school of carp happened along and the mayor kept kicking them out of the water while Crafton picked them up. Carp are not considered an edible fish by many fishermen.

BULLET KILLS OHIO OFFICER

Tuscarawas County Deputy Sheriff Shot to Death by Crazed Fugitive.

NEW PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—Deputy Sheriff Martin Myers, 50, of nearby Dennison, died today of bullet wounds inflicted by an assailant who later committed suicide.

According to authorities, Myers, Sheriff Wayne Host and Deputy John McIntosh had gone to the home of Herbert Krebs, 48, to take him into custody on a lunacy warrant.

They found Krebs had barricaded himself in the dwelling. When the officers tossed tear gas bombs into the house, Krebs rushed out and began firing with a repeating rifle. Myers was struck in the chest, arm and jaw.

He died several hours later in a hospital.

The shooting occurred in the village of Old Town Valley. After Myers had been rushed to a hospital, a posse was formed and the Krebs home was stormed. Officers found Krebs gone.

The search was resumed this morning and Kreb's body was found in a field in the rear of his home, where police said he had shot himself.

Myers, former police chief of Dennison, was widely known in this section.

COUNCIL TO DECIDE ON W. 4TH PAVING AT SESSION SATURDAY

Mayor William J. Locke said today that city council would be called into special session Saturday morning to reconsider legislation for paving West Fourth street by the state department of highways this summer.

The measure which would have authorized the state highway department to proceed with the improvement was turned down at a special session Tuesday night because it lacked seven votes necessary for passage.

With only seven members present, George Kyle, in whose ward the improvement is proposed, opposed the bill on the basis of the type of pavement proposed by the state.

Council had agreed to the state's proposal of a 22-foot brick center lane and six-foot concrete parking strips on either side several months ago and the legislation now before council is to authorize appropriations to finance the construction job.

The measure provides for an appropriation of $48,000 as the city and property owners' share of the cost. A total of $29,300 is to be taken from the registration fee fund to meet the city's share while assessment bonds in the amount of $18,700 are to be issued to pay the property owners' share.

The proposal calls for the repaving of the street from North Diamond street to a point just east of Ausdale avenue at an estimated cost of about $170,000.

New water lines have already been laid on the street from North Main to Bowman street and were being tested today by city engineers.

With only a short section of line to be installed near Western avenue, it is expected that the entire job will be complete and ready for repaving by June 15, City Engineer W. C. Statler said today.

Murray D. Shaffer, division highway engineer at Ashland, has said that it will take the state about three months to complete construction of the new roadway.

Two of the old governors were re-elected to the board. They were Ben Goodenough, assistant director, and Earl L. Heasley.

The board will meet June 5 for reorganization and election of officers at the home of Mrs. E. K. Bacon, Glenwood boulevard.

$30,000 TO BE SPENT ON JOB NEAR NEWVILLE

One Highway to Be Rebuilt, Another Planned to End Flood Isolation in Area.

A dozen Worthington township families who are isolated by flood waters back of the Pleasant Hill dam a part of the year will soon have an all-year outlet over a new $30,000 road, Murray D. Shaffer, Ashland division state highway engineer, said today.

The state highway department is ready to ask for bids on the two-mile section of road and work is expected to be completed this summer, Shaffer said. The road will be 16 feet wide and will extend eastward from Newville.

After the project is ready, the highway department will seek federal approval of a proposed $200,000 re-location project for state route 95 between Newville and Perrysville.

Shaffer said the state hopes to get the route 95 project under way before the end of the summer, but the state must have a promise of aid from the federal government before the project will be advertised for contract bids.

Both jobs would be built in co-operation with the war department which recently took charge of the Muskingum Conservancy set-up.

The flooding of low-lying areas during certain seasons of the year as the result of the construction of the Pleasant Hill dam forced the state to take action to alleviate conditions in the southeastern corner of the county.

Federal Approval Needed.

County officials and residents of the area affected by the flood waters have sought the improvements for several months. Shaffer said the projects had been on the state schedule for some time, but needed federal approval.

Route 95, which is comparatively new from Butler to Perrysville through Newville, crosses the backwaters of the Pleasant Hill dam and in times of high water is flooded in the Newville area.

Much of the Butler-Perrysville section of the route was built over old county roads, and the state plans call for marked improvements in the grade and surface of the highway as well as flood-preventative measures.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

A Little While Ago.

As one who doesn't remember the good old days of Lillian Russell and girls in bustle and pigeon pie at Delmonico's, I am seldom tempted into reminiscences about the "good old days" on Broadway or any place else.

Weber and Fields never made me laugh, so thinking of them doesn't make me weep. Songs like "Bicycle Built for Two" and "Sidewalks of New York" are strictly corn to me, and I never even liked "Alexander's Ragtime Band" until a couple of years ago when they started to swing it. I never saw a movie with Pearl White in it, and a brown derby to me is just a restaurant at Hollywood and Vine. So most of the talk about the good old days leaves me cold.

But I guess there must be an era that was "the good old days" for me, and I guess it was about the time of the birth of Swing Street, when the first noisy, dim, crowded speakeasy elbowed its way into a smoky basement on 52nd street, until then a street of brown-stone town houses, and lace curtains and parlor-maids behind grilled doors.

That was 11 years and I had heard of speakeasies and knew what they were but I had never been inside one. That was 1929. I remember that year very well. I remember everybody was humming "Moanin' Low" and dancing to "What Is This Thing Called Love?"

They were dancing in dresses that were two inches above their knees and were beginning to dip in back. Helen Kane was the current Bonnie Baker, and even kids on the street were doing reasonably accurate versions of her collegiate "Boo-hoop-a-doop."

Elinor Glyn was writing about Life and It for a local tabloid. Franklin D. Roosevelt was governor of New York. James A. Farley was boxing commissioner. If you didn't have a yellow slicker with cartoons sketched on it and autographed sleeves you must have been very old.

And that first speakeasy on what was to become Swing Street didn't have a name. It was just called Leon and Eddie's.

Breach of promise suits were a headline fad; every broker had one. Pocket flasks were as common as powder puffs. In Hollywood, the 18-day diet made lamb chops and pineapple famous.

I remember all the girls adored Rudy Vallee and held their breaths while he crooned over the radio. I remember all the men said he would be a flash in the pan.

John Barrymore and Dolores Costello were awaiting their second baby. Mayor Jimmy Walker had just been re-elected, defeating Fiorello LaGuardia by an overwhelming majority.

I remember those were the days when Norma Shearer wore her hair the way Bea Lillie wears hers now. Flaming Youth was one of the things that was worrying the older generation and delighting the movie magnates, who capitalized on Sin and Reckless Driving and Gin Parties and Rolled Stockings, even in the titles of their movies: Colleen Moore in "Synthetic Sin," Nancy Carroll in "Shopworn Angel" and I can't remember who it was who starred in an epic called "Restless Youth."

* * *

Clara Bow was the No. 1 box office draw that year, and her appeal had nothing to do with Shirley Temple. The college kids were murdering a novelty jingle called "Vo-Do-De-O."

Estelle Taylor and Jack Dempsey were happily married and Dempsey was planning a comeback.

One lone orange drink stand appeared on 46th Street, and it was something of a Broadway novelty. Gene Tunney and Polly Lauder were honeymooning in Switzerland.

That was, I think, the year Tallulah Bankhead announced her engagement to Count Bosardi, an Italian nobleman, who during a press interview told the great Talloo: "Quiet, please! I am the master and I will do the talking." No wonder they never got as far as the altar! . . . Everybody wondered how the talking pictures really made the actors talk. People said: "Have you seen it yet?" about Al Jolson's "The Singing Fool" the way this year they said it about "Gone With the Wind." Barbara Bennett married Morton Downey that year. There were rumors that Ina Claire and her husband, John Gilbert, weren't getting along very well.

Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, fresh from hob-nobbing with nobility in Europe, went Shakespearean and co-starred in "The Taming the Shrew." Commissioner Grover Whalen was active conducting rum raids.

Mabel Willebrandt, the dry leader, charged Helen Morgan, Texas Guinan, Evelyn Nesbit and other night spot "hostesses" with violation of the Volstead act. Clubs were always being closed by legal padlock—but seldom by lack of business.

Alice Brady, Gertrude Lawrence, Lenore Ulric, Will Rogers, Mae West, the Marx Brothers, Ethel Barrymore and the Lunts all had their names in lights on the Broadway marquees. Vina Delmar's novel "Bad Girl" was disapproved by the women's clubs and became a best seller in the book shops.

And there were a lot of butter and egg men around, and a lot of stage door Johnnies, and a lot of orchids and a great deal of gold. And the lights were very bright, and the laughter was very loud, and among the things that everyone knew was the comforting fact that there would never be another war.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Times change, and so do people. Witness three changes by three principals in one picture, "South of Pago-Pago," adaventure saga where you would expect to find and do find:

Jon Hall, the "Hurricane" boy, his handsome physique clothed in a native pareu. Jon, the one-time Charles Locher, selected for the big wind picture of two years ago by Samuel Goldwyn, and since retained on salary, has been a Johnny Weissmuller actor—meaning a fellow with a specialty seldom demanded by the screen. Besides marrying Frances Langford, Jon's principal activities since "Hurricane" have been sailing, building boats, traveling and one movie he'd as soon forget, "The Sailor and the Lady."

The change in Jon: he's acting. Not that he'll admit it, but around the set they notice he's bringing new authority to a role that demands more than physique and swimming. He hasn't been priming on the sly to slip up on an academy award; he's still a lad whose motto is, "I do what the director says."

Olympe Bradna. O'lamp hasn't really changed; she has merely grown older. She is 19 now. She doesn't have to go to school and learn where Poland was and what is the capital of Arkansas and two-and-two makes four. She doesn't have Nana, her governess, by her side constantly. Nana has retired and gone to keep her own family. O-lamp's mother now lets her go on dates, unchaperoned. Once O-lamp was the girl who never had been kissed even, in a picture. O-lamp says now she has been kissed in a picture. She is prettier than she used to be.

Frances Farmer. Frances is doing an about-face as she returns to the camera after a stage fling. Frances, who gained a reputation for snootiness and determined highness of brow in her "Come and Get It" days, says she always hated snobbish people and never intentionally snooted anybody. It has been said that Leif Erickson, her estranged husband, advised her badly—"ridiculous," says Frances. "Nobody advised me. I never pursued a deliberately calculated course of conduct. I left Hollywood because I wanted stage experience, and I want to make pictures and go back to the stage and become an experienced actress in both."

Anyway, Frances is being as agreeable as the toughest director could ask. She still talks over points of procedure on her role, and she still tries hard to make it just, just right. She is serious, never hot-cha. I don't mean she can't laugh right heartily, because she can.

WAR TO BE IN BAKGROUND ON MEMORIAL DAY

Mansfield Patriotic Groups Complete Plans For 1940 Observance.

Mansfield will observe Memorial day in the time-honored manner of the past half century, with little emphasis on the fact that a war is raging over half the world.

Plans for the day have been completed, according to Robert C. Jones, program chairman, and they include the same order of events that has been followed for many years.

Soldier graves will be decorated in the morning, there will be a parade in the afternoon and Memorial services at the Stadium in Mansfield cemetery. William M. Vance, Columbus, will be the orator of the day.

Other officers of the day will be Charles H. Huston, president, Grand marshal, T. M. Bell; Robert J. Nichols, first grand marshal; Walter M. Hill, second grand marshal, Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, chaplain of the day.

Serving on the staff will be officers of the Mansfield Community Memorial and Patriotic association, as well as heads of all of the veteran and patriotic organizations of the city.

Services at Park.

There will be services at Central park at 11 a m. with bells tolling at noon and flags raised to full mast.

The parade will form at 1 p m. on Park avenue west between Mulberry street and the American Legion home, and will move at 1:30 p. m. It will march, by way of South Main street and Chestnut, to Mansfield cemetery.

Memorial Sunday will be observed Sunday, May 25 and services will be held at 9:45 a. m. in the Madison theater. The services will be in charge of the Jewish congregations of the city, with their singers providing the music.

PILOT WANTS STEAM POWER

SEATTLE, Wash.—(U P)—Aviation could use another James Watt to re-discover the uses of steam in air transport, believes Capt. Hubert B. Rueschenberg, veteran pilot.

In fact, he has an automobile powered by steam and he hoped it would lead some day to steam-propelled airplanes.

"If steam had been engineered and studied as carefully as gasoline motors," Rueschenberg said, "I'm sure we could today see planes with steam power plants."

CHAPTER XVII

A tap on the door . . . Ellen said, "It's Ellen, Miss Brooke." And when Brooke opened the door, Ellen said sweetly, "I just came to tell you that Mrs. Kingsbury always takes her meals in her room on a ship. She said she wouldn't want you until 11 tomorrow. You know, I was worried about her but she'll be all right tomorrow. It's the air. . . . I've seen Francis. He's been drinking again." She shook her head. Then she smiled again, humbly. "Now you get some sleep. I'm sorry if I troubled you and tomorrow you'll get acquainted with some young people. Good night."

"Good night, Ellen, and thank you." What did Mrs. Kingsbury want of her, Brooke, when she had Ellen? Merely to read and write letters? She thought: "I'm her worst extravagance."

She slept fitfully awakening several times, the first time with alarm at the motion of the ship, the last time excited at the sight of the sun on the sea. It was 9 o'clock! She dressed quickly, wearing the green jersey frock and brown pumps, and stepped into the corridor, depending upon a poor sense of direction to guide her to the dining room.

The chief steward, a pleasant, rather handsome middle-aged man, greeted her politely, turned to a steward, and called a number. Brooks followed the steward, halting when he stopped at a table where two young men and a young woman sat, their animated conversation cut short by Brooke's appearance.

The young woman, wearing a gray wool frock with a cape, was small and wore her dark hair in two rows of curls. She gave Brooke, who thought her attractive, a friendly smile. The young man, who wore brown, had brown, close-cropped hair, boyish, mischievous blue eyes and a wide infectious grin. On the other young man in gray, who looked very young indeed, Brooke's eyes lingered longer as she looked into clear hazel eyes and felt her mouth respond willingly too to his slow charming smile not unlike Jim's. She thought next that his head with black hair with a wave he probably despised was the handsomest head she had ever seen. She felt that she mustn't go on looking at him. . . . It did not occur to her, because until recently she had seen only the people she had known all her life, that a feeling of kinship springs up frequently among strangers. . . .

"I'm Anthony Morrison," he said with a shyness that was charming and in a voice that Brooke approved of, throaty but clear. Then, turning to the girl in gray, "This is Harriet West and Bill Sawyer. . . ."

"Not Tom," Bill said impudently. "I always have to say that!"

"Brooke?" Anthony Morrison asked.

She nodded and smiled. "Yes!" Meeting his eyes again, warmed by them, conscious of their beauty, seeing no secrets in them but only an obvious approval of her, she felt an inner glow. She felt . . . Oh, but she was hungry!

(Tony, Irene's son, ate his scrambled eggs as if he were hungry, too.)

They were, as ship acquaintances usually are, curious about each other and being unseasoned travelers were not uncommunicative. Bill Sawyer asked Brooke if this were her first tip through the Canal, and when she told him it was, he admitted that it was his also. Harriet West nodded, too. Tony Morrison said quietly that it was not his first trip. Since California happened to be his home, he always made the trip by sea when time permitted. The trip was business for Bill, an owner of kennels, and he was taking west to a wealthy dog fancier a thoroughbred which had won many prizes. For Harriet the trip was her annual vacation from what appeared to be an unpleasant office in New York.

Brooke explained herself: "And I'm secretary to an elderly lady We are going to Hawaii from Los Angeles."

"Hawaii?" Tony brightened. "You'll love it!" He smiled at each but his glance dwelt on Brooke. "I'm going home. At least I think of California as my home though I've been away at school for the last ten years. For that matter, I'm still in school but after a pretty mean case of grippe, the powers that be thought I'd better take it easy until the fall term. Those powers being my mother and a few other people not related."

"Doing graduate work?" Bill asked.

Tony nodded. "Yes. At Michigan."

Brooke's eyes were excited. She felt as if she had come out of a tomb. She thought of the drab apartment she had left with profound relief that she had escaped it and with the determination never to return to it.

Bill grinned across the table. "I'll show you the dog sometime when I go to take him for a walk."

Brooke wondered at Tony's age. To be taking graduate work, he was no doubt as old or older than she, and yet he seemed so young that she thought of him as a mere boy. Nor was she surprised that his interests were scholarly. It was simple to imagine the handsome black head and unperturbed clear hazel eyes in a library of classics than in a business office. She liked him so much that she was suddenly fearful he would say something to disappoint her.

But of the three only Harriet disappointed her when with a surprising coyness she told how many baskets of fruit, how many telegrams and how many flowers she had received. "I've got so much I don't know what I'm going to do with it! I had no idea, really . . . You're welcome to any of it. . . ."

Bill arched a brow. "Not the corsages. . . ."

Harriet lowered her head as if she were trying to conceal a blush and looked up coyly. "Now what would you do with my corsages?" Giggling, she turned to Brooke. "Have you seen the swimming pool? I'm just dying to go swimming."

They parted at the entrance to the dining-room.

They walked together, Harriet saying, "Aren't they nice? The boys at our table. I mean, Tony and Bill. I think we were lucky to get them, don't you?" When a good-looking man passed, she ogled him and laughed demurely in her collar. "I think this is going to be fun, don't you? My mother was so worried about my going alone . . . Of course I'm being met in Los Angeles and he'll show me a wonderful time . . . Are your clothes wrinkled? Oh, I know I've brought too many with me . . . Five evening dresses, all red. How many did you bring?"

"Three," Brooke said and looked at her watch. It was a quarter to eleven. She smiled at Harriet. "I'm going to work now."

"Work?" Work to be done on a ship? "Oh, you mean . . . Oh! Isn't that a shame? Well, see you later . . ."

Ellen opened the door of Mrs. Kingsbury's cabin and murmured a cheerful greeting.

Mrs. Kingsbury said, smiling grimly, "Now that's fresh air!" To Brooke directly, "You can get deck chairs from the deck steward. I'll sit on deck for a while this afternoon. There's a library on board where you can see about books. It used to be a good library. Now about work . . . I'd like to go over with you again our reservations in Los Angeles and the ship . . ."
